Legion Witness Says Communist Party Got Support of Unsuspecting Group In 'Cleverly Concealed' Program; Protest Memorials To Lenin.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—A representative of the Franklin county American Legion council charged today that the Communist party had enlisted support of unsuspecting Ohio State university students in a "cleverly concealed" un-American program.

The American Legion's statement was read by Ernest A. Grabiel, Columbus attorney and chairman of the Americanism committee of the council, at the opening hearing of the university board of trustee's investigation of alleged "subversive activities" on the campus.

"The aim of the Communist party is to reach by use of high sounding names and laudable objectives millions of American students who would not consciously support any Communist organization working in the open," the statement read by Grabiel said.

"Therefore many of the un-American activities are so cleverly scheduled that they receive support from many innocent groups or individuals on the campus who are not aware of the Communist influence involved."

Hits Marxist Club.

The Legion statement specifically named the Marxist club, the American Student Alliance, and the Peace Mobilization committee, campus organizations, as "known to be affiliated with or controlled by the Communist party."

University sanction of the annual student strike against war and allegedly of a Lenin memorial meeting was criticized in the statement, which said:

"The American Legion is reliably informed that the peace mobilization committee had heretofore successfully prevailed upon the university officials to dismiss all classes on the occasion of the annual strike against war and is further planning to obtain the dismissal of classes on the day in 1939 on which the annual strike against war is to be held (April 22).

"The American Legion further questions the propriety of university officials in recognizing clubs whose campus activities include eulogies and memorials to such characters as Lenin."

The annual Lenin memorial meeting has been scheduled for Feb. 27, with Andrew R. Onda, chairman of the communist party in Cuyahoga county, as speaker before the Marxist club.

"These activities are thus seen to be a part of the communist program and propaganda and should not be tolerated," the Legion statement commented.

The Legion spokesman asserted that the American Student Al-

WHY, JAPAN?

U. S. Wants Explanation of Navy Base Near Islands.

TOKYO —(AP)— United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew today asked the Japanese government for an explanation of the Japanese navy's occupation of Hainan, Chinese island some 750 miles west of the Philippine islands.

The request was made orally in an interview with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita and followed by a few days similar requests by the French and British ambassadors to Tokyo.

It was understood that Arita's reply was similar to those he gave Monday and Tuesday to Charles Arsene Henry and Sir Robert L. Craigie, French and British envoys, respectively, that the occupation was for military purposes and also to tighten the Japanese navy's blockade of the China coast.

Key West Residents Prepare Welcome For Chief Executive.

KEY WEST, Fla.—(AP)—This picturesque island city, rescued by New Deal agenices from isolation and financial collapse brought on by a hurricane, waited today to do homage to President Roosevelt.

An enthusiastic welcome for the chief executive was assured. As a precautionary measure, officials called a national guard company into service to prevent a rush of automobiles on the scenic overseas highway and assigned extra guards to the route he will follow.

LISTS $1,929 IN SCHOOL FINDINGS

Examiner's Report for 3-Year Period Brings Protest From City School Officials.

Findings for recovery of $1,929 in the operation of the Mansfield city school district and school library district were reported today by state examiners, a portion of whose report brought sharp protests from city school officials.

The examination covered a period from Aug. 1, 1935, to Aug. 1 1938.

Submitted by State Examiner Rene M. Baker, the report shows only technical findings and no shortages. Payments already have been made on $352 of the total amount of the findings, leaving $1,576 still due.

Supt. W. L. Miller was concerned chiefly with a finding for recovery of $450 from J. Merten Holcombe, school band instructor, for salary which the examiner said was paid illegally to him during the past three summers for his work with the band. The finding was the largest against any individual.

Miller cited a state law which authorizes school boards to employ instructors to continue educational and beneficial recreational projects during the summer and to pay the teachers from school funds.

The examiner held that the board had no authority to pay Holcombe from public funds when school was not in session.

"It is a common practice for boards to pay for summer supervision of pupils, and the examiner's interpretation of the law merely differs from the board's," Dr. John H. Bristor, clerk, said.

Findings for $360 were return-

INQUIRY OVER, RITES TO END TRAGIC STORY

Funeral of Mrs. Woerth and Daughter Will Be Held Tomorrow Morning.

OTHER RITES AT 2 P. M.

Friends See Bodies for First Time Today; Police Inquiry Into Tragedy Closed.

With all police inquiry at an end and the report of the coroner submitted, there remained only funeral services, which will be held tomorrow, to write the final chapter of the tragedy that wiped out the lives of three members of a Mansfield family.

Rites for Mrs. Grace Woerth, 64, and her daughter, Loretta, 27, who were found dead Wednesday evening in their home at 39 Lexington avenue, with their heads battered by a hammer and their throats cut, will be held at 10:15 a. m. Saturday at St. Peter's Catholic church.

Second Rites At 2 P. M.

Services for John M. Woerth, 60, husband and father of the other two victims, whom police said took their lives before slashing his own throat, will be conducted at St. Peter's church at 2 p. m. All three will be buried in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

This morning friends were permitted to see the bodies of the three victims of the tragedy for the first time at the Geiger funeral home.

Meanwhile Police Chief Meade K. Bates today upheld the theory established Wednesday night that the three deaths were a case of double murder and suicide.

FBI to Analyze Evidence.

To substantiate his theory, he said he had sent the weapons used in the killings, along with blood specimens found in the house and from the victims to the FBI laboratory in Washington for analysis.

Bates said he also mailed a complete case history with the evidence asking them for a report to substantiate the murder and suicide theory. He said the detailed report from the government bureau would not be ready for at least several weeks.

Bodies of the three members of the Woerth family were found early Wednesday evening by neighbors and relatives after they failed to get an answer from the family by telephone.

Police found all three dead, their throats slashed with a butcher knife. They said evidence led them to believe that Woerth, an insurance agent and former county recorder, was driven to temporary insanity by worry over ill health and financial troubles and had murdered his wife and daughter and then killed himself.

Members of the Daughters of Isabella and Catholic Ladies of Columbia of which Mrs. Woerth was a member will meet at the funeral home at 8 p. m. today, while members of the Knights of Columbus and Holy Name society pay their last respects at 8:30 p. m.

FRUSTRATE COUP

Belgium Police, Firemen Oust Insurgent Sympathizers.

BRUSSELS—(AP)—Belgian police and firemen today stormed the Spanish government consulate building and ejected insurgent sypathizers who had seized it in an early morning coup.

Police climbed fire ladders to get into the building after the invaders had defied attempts of authorities to oust them.

Eight men surrendered to police and were taken to the palace of justice.

They had seized the building from its caretakers, and, shouting "Vivi Franco!" had raised the colors of insurgent Generalissimo Franco to its flagstaff.

When police failed to get the insurgent sypathizers out, firemen erected the fire escape to give authorities access to a balcony of the seized building.

Tells Charm School of Health Methods Used at Noted Resorts

When Dr. Alexander Davis, noted health expert and lecturer, addresses Mansfield women at The News-Journal's first charm school next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Senior high school auditorium, he will tell them of various health methods used at such nationally known places as the Bernarr McFadden Health school at Danville, N. Y., and the Kellogg sanitarium at Miami Springs, Fla.

Dr. Davis, who was identified with the state health department of Florida before taking to the lecture platform, has studied the methods of these famous conditioning institutions. These, together with his study of psychotherapy, psychoanalysis and biochemistry, have convinced him that even bodies that have taken on the appearance of middle age may be restored to youthfulness.

President Off For Caribbean War Games

President Roosevelt traveled southward today to watch the greatest peacetime concentration of American naval power test the eastern defenses of the fleet's life-line—the Panama canal. The chief executive left Washington on a special train shortly before last midnight. Mr. Roosevelt will board the destroyer Warrington in the shallow waters of Key West Saturday afternoon and then transfer at sea to the cruiser Houston for a ten-day journey in the Caribbean. His exact destination has not been disclosed, but he hopes to be on hand when opposing ships and air forces make their maneuvers simulating an Atlantic attack on the canal and efforts to ward it off.

Arrest of O. S. R. Fugitive Recalls Paul Maxim Case

Man Held at Detroit Fled 14 Years Ago; Wife He Wed 11 Years Ago Learns of Past for First Time.

While routine machinery for the return of an escaped convict was set in motion today by Ohio state reformatory officials, Leo LeRoy Stephens, 36, was being held in Detroit as police in that city investigate his 14 years of freedom in which he is said to have lived a respectable and normal life.

The case of Stephens, who escaped from the reformatory 14 years ago, when he was 22, recalls that of Paul Maxim, Chicago business executive who was betrayed to police in that city by a friend in 1933 after he had attained a responsible position in six years of freedom. His case won nationwide publicity and Governor George White was deluged with letters asking that Maxim be pardoned on his record of good citizenship. He was returned to the reformatory but was pardoned by the governor within a few days and returned to his position.

Served Eight Months.

Stephens, like Maxim, was sentenced for theft; the latter stole a typewriter when he was 19 and after serving less than a year of his sentence walked away from Sandusky honor camp. Stephens had served only eight months on a one-to-five-year sentence for auto theft, when he walked away from a Reformatory dormitory. He wanted, he told Detroit police today, "to square things by going straight."

He went immediately to Detroit where he found a job. Eleven years ago he married under the name of Ray Meyers. Today his

The Ohio prediction said colder tonight, with rain or snow, with Saturday cloudy and warmer.

While midwestern states shivered yesterday, southern California was swept by a windstorm that caused at least two deaths, several injuries and extensive property damage.

ORDER TRIALS OF MORE LOYALISTS

Insurgents Press Execution; Former Government Leader Dies.

BARCELONA —(AP)— Six more government political leaders, seized by the Insurgent military intelligence service, today were called to trial by the council of war.

Their arrests followed disclosure of the execution yesterday of Eduardo Barriobero, first president of the popular tribunals here under former government rule and deemed an "enemy" of Insurgent Spain.

The death of Barriobero before a firing squad has been the only execution since Barcelona's fall although many defendants before the military tribunal have been sentenced to prison.

HITS ARMS FUND

British Archbishop Critical of $2,900,000,000 Spending.

LONDON—(INS)—The Archbishop of Canterbury went on record today with a bitter criticism of a world in which it was necessary for Great Britain to spend $2,900,000,000 on armaments during the coming year.

Such an expenditure, for purposes of defense or destruction, he said, proves something is "hopelessly wrong in the world today." He added the vast sum of money could be used for promoting the welfare of the people.

Find Body Of Woman Dead For 2 Weeks

Willard Police Learn Widow, 60, Was Last Seen Feb. 2.

(By Staff Correspondent)

WILLARD—A pile of newspapers on her porch and an overflowing mailbox had led today to the discovery of the body of a Willard woman who had been dead for two weeks.

Police broke into the home on Myrtle avenue, in a good residential section yesterday afternoon, and found Mrs. Eunice Purcell, 60, lying in the kitchen doorway. Investigation by Coroner J. D. Bradish established that she had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, probably on Feb. 2 or 3.

Mrs. Purcell, who lived alone, was of a retiring nature, and was last seen alive on Feb. 2 by friends on the next street, at whose home she had called.

Later, those friends noticed an accumulation of newspapers on the porch of Mrs. Purcell's home, but assumed that she might have left for a visit and made no further investigation.

Niece Calls Police.

Noticing again yesterday that the papers were still there, and that the mailbox had not been emptied, they notified a niece, Mrs C. J. Ehrman, who called police.

Officers discovered a card Mrs. Purcell had received on Feb. 2, from a son, Gerald, in Deshler, informing her of the birth of a child.

They also found a letter Mrs. Purcell had written to a friend in Washington, in which she said that she was lonely, and was anxiously awaiting the arrival of spring, when she would be able to get out of the house more often.

Mrs. Purcell's body was taken to the Fink funeral home. Funeral arrangements had not been completed today pending notification of another son, Ross, of Chicago, spending the winter in Florida.

Mrs. Purcell had been a life-long resident of the community. Her husband, William, died several years ago.

PUPILS STRIKE

Say Ashland County Teacher Uses Paddle Too Much.

(By Staff Correspondent)

ASHLAND — Pupils in Riddle elementary school in Montgomery township, ranging in age from 6 to 14, were staging a strike today in protest at what they term "too severe punishment" by their teacher, Miss Gwendolyn Workman.

The strike, it developed today, has been in progress since Wednesday. On that day only six of the usual 40 pupils attended classes, and none of the students attended Thursday or today, school officials admitted.

It was also learned that the township board had arranged to meet tonight to consider the situation, as a result of receiving petitions from parents of students.

The pupils claim that Miss Workman, in her first year at Riddle school although she has taught for several years elsewhere in the county, resorted to the use of a paddle for minor breaches of discipline.

DICTATOR SEES POLICE SUBDUE ROME MADMAN

Private Detective Shot as He Questions Man Loitering at Gates of Home.

DETAILS KEPT SECRET

Would-Be Assassin Captured by Chauffeur of Machine Waiting on Premier.

(By United Press)

ROME — An authoritative source said today that Premier Benito Mussolin narrowly escaped assassination on Wednesday when a man described as mentally unbalanced shot one of Il Duce's private detectives.

According to the source, the shooting occurred in front of Mussolini's Rome residence, the Villa Torlonia, a few minutes before the premier was scheduled to emerge and go to Venice palace, his office.

Seen at Gateway.

Mussolini's private detective, awaiting the premier's departure for the palace, was authoritatively stated to have noticed a suspicious-looking character loitering across the street, exactly in front of the principal gateway of the villa.

When the detective asked the stranger what he was doing here, the man replied by firing a concealed revolver without removing it from his coat pocket.

The bullet pierced the detective's stomach and he crumpled to the ground.

According to the source, police identified the assassin as a man released from an insane asylum last week. His pockets contained papers showing he had once been certified to be insane.

Duce Hears Shooting.

Mussolini heard the shooting, the source said, and came out in time to see members of his staff arresting the assailant and giving first aid to the wounded detective.

Other detectives and the chauffeur of Mussolini's waiting automobile jumped on the man, dragging away his revolver. The names of the assassin and the wounded detective were being kept secret.

Gunmen Captured, Indicted, Sent To Prison In 3 Days

WILMINGTON —(U.P.)— After one of the fastest administrations of justice in Clinton county history, two Columbus young men today were to begin serving 30-year sentences in Ohio penitentiary for kidnaping and robbing a Wilmington insurance agent.

Everett Marks, 21, and Harold F. Williams, 20, pleaded guilty and were sentenced late Thursday by Judge F. M. Clevenger, just a few hours after the county grand jury had indicted them. A charge of automobile theft was left pending.

Judge Clevenger sentenced each to 20 years on the kidnaping charge and 10 years on the robbery charge. The sentences are to be served consecutively.

Marks and Williams kidnaped C. O. Minton, 35, last Monday night, took his automobile, and forced him out in the country after robbing him of $3. They continued to Cincinnati where, authorities charged, they robbed two gasoline stations.

They wede captured early Tuesday by state highway patrolmen.

Stranded On Icy Bank, Boy, 6, Waits 90 Minutes For Rescue

If six-year-old Frederick Walen ever becomes a mountain climber, he'll probably be one of the more conservative ones, for when he gets in a tight place Freddy just waits to be rescued.

The incline back of the Western avenue school may be just a steep hill to most folks, but to Freddy it's a mountain which will be avoided in the future; a mountain on which he was exposed to the near-zero weather for almost an hour and a half yesterday morning.

Usually Freddy's mother, Mrs. Fred J. Walen, 46 Brickman avenue, drives him to school, but yesterday the car refused to budge and Freddy and a small playmate walked to school, going through Middle park to the steep hill behind the school.

The "mountain" was covered with ice and snow, but the youngsters started up. They got about a third of the way when Freddy stalled. He could go no further and he was afraid to go back. The playmate went on but forgot to tell his teacher about Freddy.

Back on the icy "mountain" Freddy waited to be rescued. The cold bit at his feet and ears. He stomped for a long time but finally his legs became numb and he laid down. It was fortunate for Freddy that he laid down about recess time which is at 10 a. m.

The youngsters at the top of the hill saw him and immediately rescued him. He was so cold that he could scarcely walk, but once in the building he was given first aid, and his parents summoned to take him home. He was back in school yesterday afternoon and today although he has a cold.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

THESE are busy days indeed for Mary Lou Hehman, who is being married to David Marantette of Detroit this Saturday morning. Several of her friends have kept her busy with a number of prenupual parties . . . and she's hoping that all of her friends will attend the wedding at St. Peter's church tomorrow morning. . . . Mary Lou's brother, Paul, has been in Mansfield all week to help with final preparations for the wedding (Paul's a student at the University of Detroit). . . . And David arrived at the Hehman home last night. . . . He and his mother, Mrs. David T. Marantette, motored down from the Michigan city. An unusual feature of Mary Lou's wedding costume will be her shoes—which were designed especially to harmonize perfectly with the rest of the ensemble.

From Philadelphia, Katherine will go to New York City and then up to Boston—where she'll visit her younger sister, Martha. Martha's in school there at Wheaton . . . and the girls are anticipating a trip to Pinkham Notch (in the White Mountains of New Hampshire) where they'll ski and skate the next two weeks away.

The time between today and tomorrow can't pass quickly enough for Polly (Mrs. Paul) Hauserman . . . because tomorrow she is leaving for New York City—where she'll be a guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Wilson. . . . Polly's quite proud too—because her brother-in-law is the very same Charles Wilson who sings with Sammy Kaye's band (now appearing in New York at the Commodore hotel).

ONE OF THE most instructive lectures presented recently in Mansfield was the talk given yesterday by Andre Dubord before members of the Mansfield Federation of Women at the Women's Club. Dubord, who is a lecturer and instructor in foreign languages at the University of Toledo, has for many years collected samples of oriental art—especially rugs—and it was of these he talked yesterday.

Beginning with Persian art of the 16th and 17th centuries, he told of the developments of all types of cultural pursuits. "Weaving," he said, "is much older than drawing or painting." The speaker attributed the fine workmanship shown in oriental rugs to the keen power of observation possessed by Oriental peoples.

He then exhibited examples of each of the major classes of rugs, and told characteristic features of each. The Persian rug was always inspired by gardens, flowers, and now and then animals. Speaking of the Turkish rug, he explained that they generally are prayer rugs, and represent "home" to the owner.

Dubord stated that the Caucasian rugs were based on geometric designs, and many authorities believe that their origin was in Egyptian and Babylonian design. Turkamand rugs are always red, and have an octagonal design, he continued, and as he showed an exquisite design Chinese rug he explained the rarity of such an example.

After telling of the embroidered Bagdad rugs, Dubord spoke briefly of various other types of oriental handwork, and of the ancient pottery. Luncheon was served to about 50 members of the federation preceding the afternoon lecture.

The next federation lecture will be given March 2 by Frank Speaight at 11 a. m. Luncheon will be served at the club at 1 p. m.

Games were played, and one new member, Mary Alice Hess, was welcomed last night when members of the Varsity Vagabonds met with Miss Doris Poth, Fifth avenue. THEATERS

SOMETIMES the research departments spend weeks digging up authentic material about a character, and then the script writers do as they please anyway. This was the case in the production of "Man of Conquest" in which Richard Dix plays Sam Houston. The Texas hero lived for a number of years with the Indians and when he attends a ball of honor of Andy Jackson (in he film) he will be shown wearing Indian clothes, with fringed buckskin breeches and coat. This despite the fact that the research department learned Houston, who had a rowdy sense of humor, went to the ball clad only in moccasins, a breech cloth and a shawl. Gail Patrick plays the woman Houston loved and wooed.

Here Comes Ferdinand!

Mansfield will have an opportunity to see Walt Disney's "Ferdinand The Bull," for that color version of Munro Leaf's story of the bull who didn't give a tinker's darn for bull fights, but loved to sit and sit and smell the flowers, comes to the Madison theater the first of the week. The picture was released sometime ago, but this will be its first showing in Mansfield. Ferdinand has taken the country by storm, from babies to nonogenarians, and he has been the theme of parades, carnivals and songs. The Disney short will be an extra feature of the new bill starting Saturday midnight. A double feature, "The Duke of West Point" and "Ambush" with Gladys Swarthout and Lloyd Nolan are at the Madison the remainder of this week.

Thriller Continues.

"Jesse James" continues at the Ohio through Saturday, with the new bill opening on Sunday. This glorified Western, which bears the name of one of America's most spectacular bad men has little in common with him, so far as facts of his history are concerned, is good screen entertainment with exceptional color scenes. Tyrone Power, Henry Fonda and Randolph Scott have the male leads.

Jarrett In Films.

The usual elements of a Western melodrama are to be found in "Trigger Pals," which is current at the Majestic, along with Laurel and Hardy in "Blockheads," one of the team's last comedies. An interesting feature of the Western drama is that Art Jarrett plays the leading cowboy role. Jarrett has been a leading radio soloist until recently and was formerly the husband of Eleanor Holm. It's a story of land grabbers and honest ranchmen.

Ghost Town Revived.

A fast moving story is told in "The Man From Music Mountain" which stars Gene Autry at the Ritz today and Saturday. A fake mining promotor sells stock to Los Angeles suckers for alleged mines near an old "ghost town." When the stock holders converge on the town, the action takes on impetus. "Island In the Sky," a murder mystery with Gloria Stuart, Michael Whalen and Paul Kelly, is the second film.

The afternoon session begins at 3:30 with a devotion period, followed at 3:45 with a talk by Dr. Anspach. A discussion period will be held at 4:30 p. m. and continues until 5:15 with a lunch at 5:25.

Drama In the Air.

When a giant plane roars out over the Pacific coast bound for Alaska and Siberia, it carries two men who are both in love with the same girl, one of which married her secretly a few minutes before the ship took off. This dramatic situation occurs in "The Sky Giant," which stars Richard Dix, Chester Morris and Joan Fontaine, at the Park theater. "Tarzan and the Green Goddess" with Herman Brix brings another of the jungle adventures to the screen.

Barrett, Patras First Ex-Mansfielders to Get Promotions, Former Goes to Louisville; Others Expected to Be Advanced.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

SEVERAL of the ball players who performed under the Mansfield banner in the Ohio State league in 1937 are slated for promotions again this year.

Steve Patras and Johnny Barrett, who, with Dewey Stover, formed the greatest outfield ever to grace an Ohio State league team, have already been advanced to higher company, and word on the promotion of other former Red Sox is expected in the near future.

Barrett

Barrett, who rallied with the stick in the closing weeks of the season to finish with a .301 batting mark with Hazelton, Pa., in the Eastern league, has been shifted to Louisville of the American Association by the parent Boston Red Sox. The Lowell, Mass., boy may not be ready for Double A company, but his promotion indicates that Billy Evans regards him as a prospect.

Patras performed with both Canton in the Mid-Atlantic and Rocky Mount, N. C., in the Piedmont last sumer, and will return to the latter club this year, we understand. The Californian blasted the ball at a .324 clip last year.

Catcher John Spartichino and Pitcher George Schneidmuller, who wore the Clarksdale, Miss., livery in the Cotton States league, are almost certain to be advanced in the Red Sox system, as are Andy Gilbert, hard-hitting second sacker, and Frank Stinson, who made his mark as a catcher this year. Both Gilbert and Stinson were with Danville, Va., in the Bi-State circuit.

The other Mansfield graduates experienced mediocre seasons, and their future as Boston hirelings has yet to be determined. Lonny Haulbrook, for instance, found the going tough last summer, and his refusal to join a club to which he was transferred may result in his release. George Biershenk and Fenton Beaman were unable to make the grade last year. Beaman, incidentally, has already applied for a job with this year's Mansfield club.

* * * *

BLACKBURN, CRONIN ALSO HAVE SUCCESSFUL SEASONS.

JUST where Wayne Blackburn and Chuck Cronin, who made their mark on the Mansfield semi-pro diamond before the city's entry into the Class D circuit, will play this year is also doubtful.

Both experienced successful seasons, Blackburn hitting .335 for Durham in the Piedmont league, and Cronin winning 14 out of 21 games for Johnstown, Pa., in the Mid-Atlantic circuit before his transfer to Springfield of the Three-I league. It is likely that Cronin will remain at Springfield, but Blackburn's destination is not known. However, there is a possibility that he may return to Syracuse of the International league, where he started the late season at third base.

Last season's records of the majority of the former Mansfield players follow:

Tygers Complete Workouts For Next Tilt With Shelby

Coach Murphy Fears Letdown as He Sends Mansfield Cagers Through Final Drill for Saturday.

FEARING a letdown after four straight victories, Coach Russ Murphy had his fingers crossed as he sent his Tygers through a light drill in preparation for Saturday's tussle at Mansfield high school with Shelby's improving Whippets.

The Mansfield high representatives took the Whippets into camp in rather easy fashion in their first meeting, but the Shelby club has improved greatly since then, although its record shows only four victories.

Murphy regards his toughest job at present to keep the Tygers fired as a letdown is inevitable in any winning combination.

The early part of this week was spent in remedying some of the weaknesses which have cropped out in the Tygers' play in recent games, and Murphy believes that his club is set for the remaining games on the schedule if it is able to retain its present pace.

Mansfield will be well-rested for the Whippets, who will be playing their third game of the week Saturday night. The Whippets won their second straight victory Tuesday when they outpointed Crestline and play hosts to Marion tonight.

Crestline Varsity Wins Grudge Game

CRESTLINE — A so-called "grudge" battle between the varsity and reserve cagers of Crestline high school last night resulted in a 28 to 23 victory for the varsity. The varsity held the advantage all the way, but the reserves pressed all the way, trailing only 10 to 8 at the half. Phil Ganni of the varsity and Hal Rice of the reserves led the scoring with nine points apiece.

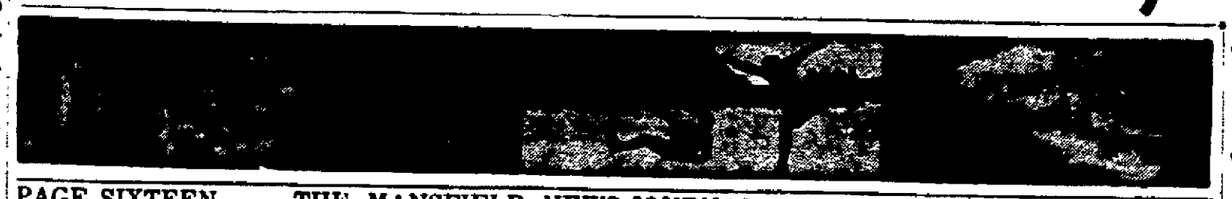
Rex Billiards Take Dairys In Overtime



Wentz' Basket Wins Decision

Raemelton Farm Upsets Sohioans, Musilles Whip Canfields In Other Friendly House Games.

By CHARLES MARTIN

A LAST-MINUTE goal by Joe Wentz in a "suicide" overtime enabled the Rex Billiards to topple a fighting Miller Dairy outfit, 28 to 26, last night and take sole possession of first place in the second round race of the Friendly House Senior league.

It was the second consecutive triumph for the Cuemen, who copped the championship in the opening title chase.

The Billiards found themselves trailing by a 21 to 17 count going into the final frame, but they suddenly broke loose with a basket bombardment that was climaxed when Mike Wentz sank a foul shot in the fading seconds of the regular game to knot the score at 26-all.

In the other games, the Raemelton Farm team upset the Blue Goose Sohioans, 23 to 16, and the Musille Cigars walloped the Augustine Canfield Station club, 39 to 28.

Heiser Leads Dairys.

With Jim Heiser leading the way, the Dairys, who were behind 13 to 15 at the intermission, rallied to take their four-point lead at the opening of the final period, but were unable to protect it, and as a result suffered their first defeat in the second round.

The losers found themselves tied up by the stellar Billiard defense in the overtime. They took a couple of long shots but couldn't connect. And then Wentz, who tied Heiser for individual honors with nine points, slipped in his one-handed shot from the corner of the court. The Cuemen held a 7-6 advantage in the initial frame.

Raemelton jumped into a 4-1 lead in the opening stanza and was never headed as it turned back the only team that has defeated the Billiards this season. The Farm outfit was leading, 11 to 7, at the rest period and 15 to 11 at the start of the fourth quarter. K. Hardin collected 10 points to set the tempo. Kenny Lockhart led the losers with eight points.

Bajie and Bob Boyd put on scoring exhibitions that gave the Musille quintet its victory. The former accounted for 15 points while Boyd tickled the nets for 11.

Cigar Team Rallies.

The Augustine team went into an 8-6 lead in the first frame, but the Cigars came back to gain a 10 to 8 advantage at the half. The Musille machine continued to add to its lead and raced into the last period holding a 26 to 21 lead.

Madison Game Off

TONIGHT'S County League basketball game between Madison and Butler on the Rams' court was called off today because of an epidemic of colds and grippe at the Butler school, Wayne Miller, principal of Madison high, announced today. Miller also said that it is doubtful whether the game would be played at a later date as the league championship has already been settled.

Ontario plays at Union in the only league game on tonight's schedule as the Bellville-Lexington tilt was called off earlier this week.

It's Johnny

Believe it or not, that's Johnny Allen, hardboiled Cleveland pitcher, wearing the ducky Hawaiian bathing trunks on the beach at St. Petersburg. Too cute for words! Or are they?

Jones' 678, Printers' 2966 Top Scoring In Commercial 'B' League

Satterlee Restaurant Keglers Take Three Games To Tie Office Cafe for First Place.

CHARLIE JONES and the Mansfield Printers dominated the scoring in the Commercial B league on the slides at the Meder Recreation alleys last night.

Led by Jones' 678 series, the Printers set up a 2966 total, which enabled them to take three victories from the Yuncker Sports and climb within one game of first place, shared jointly today by the Satterlee Restaurant and Office Cafe keglers.

Jones featured a rousing 256 middle game in his string. Starting with a "turkey" and spare, he followed with five strikes in a row and finished with a spare. He sandwiched this game between scores of 231 and 191.

Bob Flood and Carl Heilman contributed totals of 624 and 620 to the Printer's count, which included games of 990, 1037 and 939.

The Heilman Grocers were next high in the scoring column with a 2818, which included a 992. The Grocers, led by Paul Christman's 618, took three decisions from the Kochheiser Sports, who tumbled 2711 sticks. Harold Selby marked up a 615 for the Sports.

Ed Funston and Harold Geiger whipped up totals of 622 and 606 to lead the Satterlee pinsters to a 2704 series and three wins over the Shelby Cycles to enable them to tie the Office team for first place.

The Office Cafe annexed a pair of wins over the Ringside Cafe, with Harry Uplinger leading the winners to a 2713 with a 638.

The Mansfield Rugs, with a 2719 count, added a couple of wins over Met's Auto Supplies. Frank Burton slapped out a 606 for the Rugs. Ray Anthony came through with a 616 for the Burghardt Cafe, which took the N. P. S. entry for two games.

Quintets Put Win Streaks On Block

CHICAGO — (AP)— The most impressive winning streaks of the current Big Ten basketball race will collide tomorrow night when Indiana's pace setting Hoosiers take on Northwestern

The Hoosiers have won six games in a row since Ohio State dusted them off in their title opener. Northwestern bowed three times at the start, then defeated Minnesota, Iowa, Chicago and Wisconsin in that order.

Purdue will be out to increase its string against Wisconsin. A victory would send Purdue into second place if Ohio State falters against Iowa. The fourth game tomorrow brings together Michigan and Chicago on the Midway.

Donna Schuster Paces Women's Scoring.

FEATURING a middle game of 215, Donna Schuster blasted out a 527 to set the individual scoring pace in the Women's league. She led Harvey's Sample Shoes to a clean sweep over the Richland Printers.

The Morgan Dry Cleaners, led by Mary McMullen's 511, added a pair of victories at the expense of the Office Cafe, and the Moderne Beauty Salon won two games from Shelley's Candies.

Sexton, Curley Head Grapple Card Tonight

Jack Zarnas, Former Mansfield Boy, to Meet Welch In Semi-Final In Armory Ring.

SAILOR BULL CURLY, from Glouster, Mass., will train his vaunted attack on Frank Sexton tonight at the Armory. The rugged sailor and the Ohio heavyweight champion have been carded to top an interesting card of three events and they will wrestle for two falls with a 90-minute time limit.

Heavyweight talent will dominate the Quality Club's presentation this evening, for the pachyderms will also hold sway in the semi-final.

In this bout, Jack Zarnas of Youngstown, a former Mansfield boy, is slated to oppose Cleve Welch of Cleveland and both are expected to go at top speed in an effort to get a shot at Sexton's laurels. Zarnas is the former Wittenberg football star and cousin of Gus Zarnas, All-American guard at Ohio State two seasons ago.

Human Art Gallery.

Much of Curly's appeal revolves around the fact that his body is a human art gallery. The former sailor has dozens of pictures tattooed on his short, stocky body and it is hard to find a spot that isn't filled with the needler's handiwork. The sailor, however, is also plenty of wrestler and he'll likely give Sexton plenty of trouble.

The opening bout on the card pits Gorilla Poggi, light-heavyweight champion of Argentina, against Pasha Beiram Bey of Turkey. This contest should be a real thriller and will be contested between a pair of rough matmen. They will wrestle for one fall with a 30-minute time limit.

The opening bout will be in the ring at 8:30.

Plan Formation Of Archery Club

Archery enthusiasts will meet in the assembly room at the Chamber of Commerce, Farmers Banks building, at 2:30 p. m. Saturday to launch the formation of a club to promote the sport in this city, E. C. Ryan announced today.

There is considerable interest in the sport in Mansfield, but there are no facilities for holding shoots, Ryan explained. The purpose of the organization will be to obtain a range and sponsor regular shoots.

All Mansfielders interested in archery are urged to attend the meeting.

Woman Holds High Gun in Men's Match

It was a woman who held high gun in the dual rifle match between the Mansfield Rifle and Pistol and Galion Metal Vault clubs at the Mansfield indoor range last night.

Mrs. Rhinhart, state women's champion, compiled a 287 score to lead the visiting sharpshooters to a 1382 to 1356 victory. The woman star scored 99 from prone, 97 from kneeling and 91 from standing.

L. S. Barr and Fred Sells, with respective scores of 282 and 280, led the Mansfield shooting.

Pace Slackens as Traders Await More Assurance of Spring Recovery.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market ran into a little profit taking after an opening bulge today, but gains of as much as a point or so were reduced in the second hour.

Retaining moderate advances were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Sperry, Glenn Martin, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, General Electric and Philip Morris.

Business news continued promising, but brokers found many of their customers awaiting more assurance of a spring recovery.

Bonds tilted upward and major commodities exhibited quiet strength. Foreign securities markets were comparatively steady.

Among items studied by analysis for market clues were:

Dun & Bradstreet reported that, while retail trade this week developed irregular tendencies, owing partly to freakish weather conditions, for the country as a whole consumer spending topped the like week a year ago by 3 to 6 per cent.

The American Iron & Steel Institute announced that figures received from 150 companies representing more than 90 per cent of the steel industry indicated approximately $126,000,000 would be spent during the year in this field for new construction and equipment, a decline from the $165,000,000 budgeted last year.

ENTERTAINS WITH PARTY

Mrs. Paul Kuhlman entertained members of Progress club with a Valentine party in her home Tuesday evening. Douglas Yeager assisted the hostess by presenting each guest with a nosegay of violets to which was attached the evening's program.

Three entertaining talking motion pictures were shown, "Stephen Foster," "Rhapsody in Black," and "The Toy Shop," the latter in color. The first two films were especially interesting because of the American folk music used in them.

Mrs. H. G. Cook and Mrs. H. P. Petty won prizes in a guessing contest.

Mrs. W. L. Young assisted Mrs. Kuhlman in serving refreshments which were in the spirit of Valentine's day. For favors each member received a chocolate heart inscribed with her name. Guests were Mrs. Miller Beardsley, Mrs. William Yeager, and Master Douglas Yeager.

SOCIETY MEETS

The Misionary society of the Baptist church met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Glenn Beardsley. Mrs. Earl Darling was the assistant hostess.

Roll call was answered with patriotic quotations. Mrs. Carson Wise gave a review of the lesson study book "City Shadows." Mrs. Burley Gray read a letter from a missionary, Miss Mary I. Jones, who went to China this fall. Mrs. John Whitney gave a review of "Southern India." A poem entitled "Skipper" was given by Mrs. Carl Roller. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. B. Gray. During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess.

HOSTESS TO GROUP

Mrs. Ray Molter was hostess Wednesday evening to the members and guests, Mrs. George Randles, Mrs. Ray Danner and Mrs. Carl Bowman, of the 20th Century club at her home on North Water street.

Bridge was played during the evening with prizes won by Mrs. Howard Arnholt, Mrs. C. B. Strause and Mrs. Bowman.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyde McClure were host and hosteses Wednesday evening to the members of the Fortnightly Bridge club. The diversion progressed at three tables with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Yeager, and Mrs. Walter Carpenter winning prizes. Refreshments in keeping with Valentine were served.

LISTS $1,929 IN SCHOOL FINDINGS

Examiner's Report for 3-Year Period Brings Protest From City School Officials.

ed against Miss Mildred Sandoe, former librarian at the Public library which the school helps to govern for compensation she received from the board during a leave of absence from 1935 to 1937.

The examiner's report said Miss Sandoe could not legally receive a salary during her leave from duties here. She was paid $25 a month during a year for advice and supervision in handling of the library and $10 a month for six months.

Board members and C. C. McDonald, an insurance agent, were held responsible for $321 in premiums on property damage and liability insurance on trucks operated by the school board.

A state law prohibits a school board from carrying such insurance on its motor equipment, but Supt. Miller said boards in larger centers usually carry the insurance anyway as a protection in the event of an accident.

Ralph C. Lutz, Richland county representative, recently introduced a bill in the state legislature to legalize the insurance on school buses, trucks and automobiles.

The report listed $220 in findings against six individuals and rural school districts for unpaid tuition for pupils attending Mansfeld schools. The major tuition item was $70 which the examiner found due from the Rowsburg rural school district in Ashland county.

Findings for a total of $87 were listed against four schools in the city for balances due for vocational supplies for pupils. The amount, the report pointed out, represents unpaid bills against vocational pupils who are required to pay for their supplies.

Schools held accountable for the bills are John Simpson Junior high, $10; Bushnell, $36; Hedges, $26, and Western Avenue, $14.

The remaining findings were for minor infractions and involve overpayment of bills and small errors in accounts.

NOTICE!

Because, through no fault of its own, The News-Journal has been printing the comic strip "Tailspin Tommy" ahead of the regular release dates, appearance of the feature has been temporarily suspended.

However, the comic strip has not been discontinued.

It will reappear with no interruption in the continuity of the story on Saturday, Feb. 25, in the week-end green tabloid, in which it will appear thereafter.

The new and popular strip, "Blondie," now appears on this page daily.

ARREST RECALLS CASE OF MAXIM

Man Who Fled Reformatory 14 Years Ago Went Straight, Picked Up in Detroit.

wife, Lillian, was shocked to learn that her husband had been a former convict.

Stephens told Detroit police that a minor traffic charge had been his only deviation from the straight path in 14 years. His story is being checked by Detroit authorities.

Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent of the reformatory, said he had been advised that Stephens is being held in Detroit as an escaped inmate, and had taken the usual steps to have him returned.

Glattke said he had not been informed of any of the circumstances of Stephens' life since he left the reformatory, but regardless of what his conduct had been, had no other course under the law than to have him brought back.

Stephens, like Maxim, was betrayed by a friend. "I made just one serious mistake in 14 years," he told police. "I confided in a close friend that I had once been a convict. We had an argument and he tipped off police."

U. S. ARTIST DIES

Gilbert White Painted Murals on State, Federal Buildings.

PARIS — (AP) — Gilbert White, American artist whose murals decorate many state and federal buildings in the United States, died today in a Paris hospital.

Noted internationally as a painter, White was an active and colorful member of the American colony in Paris.

He succumbed to complications from an operation on Saturday for an intestinal obstruction.

White was born July 18, 1877, at Grand Haven, Mich. Whistler was among his teachers.

In 1934 he was the center of controversy over a 40-foot panel he did for the new department of agriculture building in Washington. Rexford G. Tugwell, then assistant secretary of agriculture, criticized the mural as "too classical" but the painting finally was accepted.

'REDS' FOOLED O. S. U., CHARGE

Legion Witness Says Students Unsuspectingly Gave Aid to Communist Party.

liance is a branch of the American Student union, "which organization came out of a coalition convention of the Students League for Industrial Democracy and the National Student league, the latter being the American section of the proletarian Youth league of Moscow."

"This convention was held in Columbus in 1937 and was heralded as one of Communism's greatest triumphs."

(Editor's note: the meeting was held in December, 1935.)

Never Attended Meeting.

The Legion also charged that the faculty sponsor of the Marxist club had never attended one of its meetings.

"The teaching of Marx's theories among the youth of our country is known to be a part of the Communist program in America and therefore should not be the basis of extra-curricular or campus club activities," the statement continued.

"There can be no possible excuse for official approval or sanction of such organizations as the Marxist club and the American Student Alliance on the campus of any American university."

Isadore W. Garek, Jewish attorney, testified before the trustees committee that anti-Jewish posters bearing the legend "America for Americans" had appeared on the campus. He charged it was an attempt "to incite class hatred."

Charles E. Duncan, senior vice commander of the Ohio department, United Spanish War Veterans, and Clyde H. Kearns, executive secretary of the Franklin County Legion council, told of a meeting of several organizations here at which alleged un-American activities were discussed.

Enjoys 3 Meals Every Day Never Needs Dose of Soda

Shelby, Ohio matron has no sign of indigestion, gas, shortness of breath, acid risings or other troubles due to constipation. Praises Vendol for splendid relief.

MRS. THOMAS E. BROWN

"Your wonderful medicine deserves the highest praise that is possible for me to give it," declared Mrs. Thomas E. Brown, wife of the former C. and O. Railway Mechanic, residing on Route One, Shelby, Ohio, near Mansfield. She was relating her experience with Vendol to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store a few days ago, and continued:

"When I began taking Vendol a short time ago, I was troubled with indigestion, sour, acid stomach, awful bloating gas, a choking feeling in my throat like a lump I couldn't swallow, and shortness of breath, all because I allowed myself to be constipated. It got to where I couldn't eat many things I wanted, just denied myself one thing after another because I knew how I'd suffer. After many a meal I'd dash off for a dose of soda to get relief.

"Vendol was so popular here and was praised so highly by leading citizens that I decided to give it a trial and the relief it has given has really exceeded my fondest hopes.

"Why, in no time at all, Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets had my bowels moving thoroughly, actively and gently. Now, (and you can believe it or not) I'm actually eating 3 hearty meals a day without a single sign of any of that old suffering with indigestion, gas, shortness of breath or acid-risings. Naturally I have no need at all any more for the baking soda. And do you know that I've even gotten a brand-new feeling of strength and energy since my nerves have calmed down and I enjoy restful sleep.

"I'm recommending Vendol to my friends and hope this public statement will be seen by many people needing the same relief."

Vendol has helped many people right here in this city and nearby towns, so why not give it a chance to help you, too? Come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Streets, ask for the Vendol Man, and learn all about it. Most all leading druggists sell it.

Leiter Becomes Acting Lucas Postmaster; Zediker Quits.

LUCAS—Hoyt Leiter has been named acting postmaster at Lucas, succeeding H. W. Zediker who resigned recently, it was revealed here late this week.

Leiter, who has been clerk in the Lucas postoffice for the past two years or more, will serve as postmaster until an examination is made for a regular appointment for the position is made.

Mr. Zediker's resignation, occasioned by ill health which has kept him away from the office since July, 1937, was submitted recently.

Zediker became postmaster at Lucas in April, 1935, when he succeeded the late Walter Fletcher who had filled the position for over 44 years.

Applications for candidates who desire to take the examination for the Lucas postmastership will close on March 3, it was announced.

IT'S ALL DIFFERENT, AMAZING TOO, IN DEAR OLD LONDON TOWN

(By United Press)

LONDON—An American listens, looks and learns in London town:

Grapes are $1.25 a bunch and under-sized oysters $1 to $2 a dozen according to distinction of the place you eat them and avocados are the rarest of luxuries. You can get milk, cream and butter only at a dairy store. Pork, beef, chicken and fish all are sold at separate stores and if you go to a big provision house they are all grouped at separate bazaars.

Saloons, "pubs," close from 3 to 5:30 in the afternoon and at 11 at night. A drink of scotch is a pony. You have to order a double scotch to get the equivalent of a full-sized American drink. Whisky is just as expensive here and is less potent. By law all whisky is 70 proof as compared to 86 proof in America. A double scotch costs a shilling and six or eight pence (35 to 45 cents).

Milk bars flood the town. A chocolate malted milk costs about 8 pence (16 cents) but doesn't taste like chocolate, malted milk or milk. The clerk asks you if you want it hot or cold. Some of the popular flavors are "honey elm," "passion fruit" and "lime milk."

When you order a mutton cutlet with tomato sauce you get a plain mutton chop and a bottle of catsup. Chili sauce seems to go under the name of tomato chutney. If you order English muffins you get crumpets. You never get a glass of water in a cafe unless you ask for it.

All night clubs close at midnight unless they have extension night (once a week) which grants them a license to remain open until 2 a. m. and dispense alcoholic beverages. But then there are bottle clubs, which anyone can join for 7 shillings and 6 pence $1.85) and you can sign a wine order which permits you to buy a bottle of anything you wish and stay as long as you like.

When you want a shave or a haircut you go to the hairdresser but you can't get a shine there. In fact you can't get a shine anyplace in London except by putting your boots outside your door the night before and the hall porter gives them a once over lightly.

On entering a shop the clerks greet you with, "good afternoon, sir," and overwhelm you with kindness whether you spend a farthing (half a cent) or 50 pounds ($250). If you don't wish to make a purchase they make you feel sheepish because of their extreme pleasantness. And when you leave they bid you goodbye and open the door for you.

There's one department store where you can do your banking, order your theater tickets, take a nap, be completely outfitted for any climate under the moon or sun, make a will, have your blood pressure taken, or name it yourself. But outside the department stores, tobacco can be purchased only in tobacco stores, shoes in shoe stores, hats in hat shops, etc. American cigarets cost 1 shilling 6 pence (about 35 cents) and are longer and thinner than the home variety. The tobacco also is cured in the English manner.

2,000 ATTEND FARM SESSIONS

Ashland Institute Closes Two-Day Session; Lectures Feature Program.

ASHLAND—The Ashland Farmers' institute which ended here last night attracted over 2,000 Ashland countians to its varied and interesting programs in its two-day session.

With many of this vicinity's community clubs participating the first day of the institute brought over 1,000 persons to attend and the second day's three sessions, morning, afternoon and evening, attracted the same number to swell the total to well over 2,000

Another feature of the interesting session was the series of instructive lectures brought to the attending farmers and their families by two speakers who are well versed in the needs of rural folks.

C. A. Steele of South Vienna, and Mrs. Florence Eickmeier of McClure, who are known as institute speakers in this section brought several interesting and timely discussions.

Arthur Crone, president of the institute this year, presided.

There were 48 automobile accident cases and 92 industrial accident cases. The average daily census was 16, and the hospital staff numbers 16.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1939.

There is always room at the top—but it takes steady climbing to get there.

The Republican party seems to be recuperating nicely after its recent demise.

In the absence of information to the contrary it may be assumed that Japan is still engaged in taking over China.

To Strengthen National Defense.

CONGRESS is moving rapidly toward approval of President Roosevelt's defense program, which will involve expenditure of more than a half billion dollars to modernize this nation's war machinery.

Because the people of this country are sincerely interested in maintaining peace it is necessary to make ready for war, so that United States territory may be spared the fate that has already befallen some other countries that lacked defensive power sufficient to repel invasion.

Under the line of reasoning which is at least temporarily dominant in some highly militarized countries of the world, it cannot be doubted that the United States would be regarded as legitimate territory for seizure, if it is not sufficiently protected by force of arms to command the respect of would-be despoilers.

There was little thought in this country, in the early days of the World war, that the United States would eventually be drawn into that conflict, and as late as November 1916, Woodrow Wilson was re-elected president by resort to the appealing slogan, "He kept us out of war."

The fact that the house of representatives voted expenditures for a defense program, by the wide margin of 367 to 15, evidences the virtual unanimity of congressmen in recognizing the need for increasing air forces, strengthening Panama Canal defenses and taking various other precautions against foreign aggression.

A serious weakness of the 1917 entry into the World war was lack of a military link between government and industry, which dangerously slowed factory production of war supplies.

Such an oversight is not to again hamper this country's defensive readiness and a part of the present preparedness program has been to establish contact and gain assurance of co-operation of thousands of industrial plants which can be quickly turned to war-time production if needed. According to a recent report 10,000 plants have been thus earmarked for war production, with proprietors and managers informed as to the tasks to be imposed upon them in the event of war.

While the present threat of aggressive warfare continues to exist, the preservation of civilization demands that remaining democracies be kept in readiness to meet force with superior force.

Advises Newspaper Advertising.

BETTER public understanding of the services performed by the trust department of banks is recommended by Towner Phelan, St. Louis banker, at the midwinter trust conference of the American Bankers association, being held in New York this week. He advised newspaper advertising as the ideal medium for this purpose.

"Newspaper advertising," said Mr. Phelan, "will reach the entire public; it will tend to build and maintain the background of public confidence which is the foundation of trust business; it will inform the public about trust service and will do much to dispel ignorance, remove prejudice, correct misinformation and educate the public to the advantages of trust service."

While trust service has been a part of banking business for many years, in administering estates and handling special bequests, knowledge of this service has been confined to comparatively few people aside from attorneys.

As the advantages of this institutional service becomes better known there will be less inclination to burden inexperienced relatives or friends with the administration of estates.

International Bridge Tournament.

THE League of Nations is breaking up, but the World Bridge Olympics goes ahead triumphantly. Several thousand participating players in fifty-two countries are expected to start in the great international tournament of April 27.

The twenty hands to be played are being prepared now. Four of them were dealt in the regular way by New York's Grover Whalen. The other sixteen will be prepared by a committee of experts. The play of sixteen hands will determine the winners. The Whalen hands will count only in case of a tie among contestants. Players, however, will not know at any time whether they are playing one of the dealt hands or one of those prepared by the experts.

Non-bridge players are inclined to jeer at such elaborate arrangements for a mere game. But those bridge enthusiasts really seem to have something. Budget deficits, war threats and trade problems trouble them not at all, and for a while the most important thing in the world to them will be the shrewd playing of a few hands of cards. Which may be a good idea.

Sign of Character.

LIFE INSURANCE sales declined sharply during the early part of last year. During the last six months, they started upward again, and the improvement became noticeable toward the end of the year. And, according to late reports, they are still climbing, and prospects hold that 1939 will see a favorable total.

The continued desire the American people have shown to purchase life insurance, during even the worst of depression, is as good a sign of national character as could be asked for. The average American wants to be independent—he wants to provide for himself and his dependents in old age. He doesn't want to be a ward of the government.

That WPA worker, arrested in Toledo as a counterfeiting suspect, may have thought he wasn't being paid as much as he was worth.

Mrs. Mooney doesn't seem to care for a divorce, following a 22-year separation.

Progressive conservatism has accomplished many things.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Nearly every president has to have a good quarrel with the senate—and just about every time he loses, sometimes tragically. Some of the exceptions are more tragic than the others.

President Roosevelt is having his quarrel over the appointment of Floyd H. Roberts of Virginia as judge of a western district in Virginia. Senators Glass and Byrd of Virginia declared the president had made the appointment to embarrass them politically, so they relied on the age old senate tradition of complaining that it was to them both personally objectionable and obnoxious. The senate supported them eight to one by rejecting Roberts.

The scuffle is not ended yet, of course, even though there has been a biting exchange of letters. The vacancy still exists. When another appointment comes down Glass and Byrd will attack it again if, as they expect, the appointment again is "personally objectionable" to them.

Senator Ashurst of Arizona, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, views the disputes philosophically.

"A large number of presidents—Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Tyler, Lincoln, Johnson, Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson—had their quarrels with the senate, but quarrels between the president and the senate, like the quarrels of the Medes and the Persians, admit of neither inquiry nor explanation."

Washington Was Furious.

EVERY president, in his second term, says Ashurst, can expect such a battle.

"The reasons are many," he says, "and would take hours to summarize."

Washington came to the senate to defend an appointment and underwent such rigorous questioning that he left in high Virginia anger, and swore he never would visit the place again.

Perhaps most tragic was the battle between President Garfield and the two New York senators, Conkling and Platt. Garfield won the battle, says Senator Ashurst, but lost his own life as a result.

The two senators joined with Vice-President Arthur and the governor of New York in writing a letter objecting to the appointment of a Mr. Robertson as customs collector for the port of New York. The president made the appointment, however, and the senate confirmed it.

Conkling and Platt immediately resigned in protest and went to the state senate expecting re-election as a further mark of disapproval of the action. But the state senate stood by Garfield after one of the most acrimonious controversies in years. A fanatic was so stirred by the affair, says Senator Ashurst, that he assassinated Garfield.

Conkling, an outstanding statesman, never regained his seat in the senate and Platt was out for 16 years. Vice-President Arthur, who had joined in protest, succeeded to the presidency—and then refused to oust Robertson.

Elder Taft Deplores.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON, successor to Lincoln, escaped impeachment by only one vote after the senate questioned his right to remove a cabinet member, Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton.

William Allen White, Kansas editor, in his current book on President Coolidge, relates that Chief Justice Taft discussed at length with Coolidge his hopes of exempting judiciary appointments from senate patronage. His efforts were recorded in a long series of letters to his son, Robert Taft. And, just to add to the confusion, the son, Robert—now a senator and presidential prospect—voted against the president to sustain the objecting senators.

Democrats Worried Over Split-Up

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Democratic managers are just getting fairly at the task of assessing the damage resulting from the recent controversy between President Roosevelt and Senators Glass and Byrd over that Virginia federal court appointment. While it was raging the excitement was such that bystanders could not accurately estimate the extent of the incidental destruction. That there would be considerable was all they could be sure of.

The other day, however, the dust having settled a little, the bosses called a party caucus to consider the situation. A major party caucus is quite an event. When one is called it means that that party has something on its mind to think about super-seriously.

A caucus is more or less confidential. Most of the news leaks out, but it is unofficial. Well, the unofficial news of that particular caucus was of a nature to make Congressional Democrats, ever since, wear pretty glum faces. The fact is, the prospect of 1940 is beginning to worry them. Heretofore they have not really worried. They have recognized that their political faction was badly disrupted, but they have felt tolerably confident of getting things sufficiently patched up by next year to get away with at least another administration. Now they are not so sure of it.

At that, though, Capitol Hill is not such a sad place. The Republicans are happy enough to counteract almost any amount of Democratic despondency.

Bi-Lateral Misery.

The trouble with the Democrats is that both wings of them are wretched.

1. There's the Roosevelt or New Deal wing, of course.

2. And there's the Democratic anti-New Deal wing. I think I'd say that Vice President Garner has been its leader. Maybe its co-leaders today are Senators Glass and Byrd. Glass, past 80, naturally can not last long, but Byrd can; maybe he will inherit the whole Glass-Byrd leadership.

But how much good will it do him?

On that issue of the Virginia federal judicial appointment Senators Glass and Byrd unquestionably made a Roman holiday out of President Roosevelt.

First they licked his appointee. That was a technical decision in their favor. Indeed, it was more than a mere "decision." A 72-to-9 vote against the White House rated as a "knockout."

Then ensued the exchange of correspondence betwen Roosevelt, Glass and Byrd relative to the judicial appointment. I do not believe anyone can dispute that the senators, on moot court grounds, properly attended to the president. Possibly it was unfair—two senators versus one president.

The president spoke. Senator Glass answered. At that point the president ought to have rebutted. He was not given a chance to do so. Senator Byrd following up Senator Glass, without giving the president a look-in.

Having had a modicum of legal education, I ask of lawyers:

"How about this?"

Who Wins?

Thus, who wins?

Senators Glass, Byrd et al win, in a way.

But they do not regain control of their party—if it IS their party.

The other fellows retain control of it, if it is THEIR party.

In short, whose party IS it?

Which party is which?

The Republicans have got cohesion but they are in a minority. The Democrats are in an overwhelming majority but are split every whichway.

Republicans Have Party.

The nub IS—

The Republicans, discouraged as they are, have got a party.

The Democrats have not.

There ought to be two NEW parties.

They ought to combine and reemerge.

Timely Editorial

Liquor Clean-Up Needed.

Ohio will return to prohibition unless lax methods of state liquor control are reformed. This is the prediction of Mrs. Edith McClure-Patterson, member of the State Liquor Board. It is the opinion of many other persons acquainted with retail liquor resorts. Clean up and straighten up.

Uncleanliness and rowdyism in the drinking places are increasing the public's disgust. The success of many local option elections in Ohio shows how the reaction works. The present Republican state administration has already shown its intention to remove laxity from the liquor control. It should push the idea.

Mrs. Patterson recommends more liquorless night clubs for young people.—Toledo Blade.

Health Advice

Get Your Share of Sunshine.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE WINTER solstice is behind us and the days of sunshine are returning.

The sun has always been regarded as the giver of life. For the Egyptians it was the supreme god. The Greek legend of Persephone tells of the annual return of that maiden from the lower world of darkness, welcoming back the sun, to charge into renewal the fruits, the flowers and the plants of the earth.

But we humans, just as much as the plants, need the sun and respond to its beneficient rays. Nay, more, according to Michelet, the great French historian, who said "Of all flowers, it is the human flower which has the greatest need of the sun."

Modern science has furnished a reasonable explanation of those ancient beliefs. They are not superstitions, but can be put into exact mathematical statements of facts.

Bottled Energy.

When you build a fire in the grate during the winter evenings, you have simply unbottled the solar energy which the coal or the wood, or the gas, or the oil, absorbed and stored many years ago. The movements that we make with our muscles are nothing else; simply the release of solar energy as it was stored up by plants and which was obtained in our food.

The story is told of the inventor, George Stevenson, who was watching one of the locomotives which his genius helped to perfect. "Answer me a question," he said, turning to his companion. "What sort of force is it that drives that train along?" "I should think it was the force of the engine," answered his friend. "No," said Stevenson, "sunlight."

Stored In Earth.

"I assure you it is nothing else," he continued. "It is light that has lain stored in the earth for many thousands of years. The light absorbed by the plant during its growth is essential to the condensation of carbon and this light which has been buried in the coal for so many years, is now unearthed and being freed again, as in this locomotive, and serves great human ends."

This return of the sun with all of its powers for renewing energy properly renews our enthusiasm for life. Go out and get as much of it as you can. It is good for your body, good for blood, bones, skin—all the vitalizing processes of life. And in the world outside your own body it is renewing the vital forces of plants and animals, making chemical changes which before long will be utilized by your body for growth and health and strength.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

This Is Worth While.

This is worth doing, anything
That lifts the heart and makes
New dreaming for the far heights
live,
Worth doing though it takes

A deal of trying, though it tax
The meager strength and though
It robs the leisure hours of play
They have a right to know.

This is worth doing, anything
That makes the spirit lift
Beyond the commonplace to find
Expression's finest gift.

A Farmer's Diary

The Deer Mouse.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE woods were quiet after a snow, with no motion anywhere. Snow clung to the brambles, the overhanging hazel bushes, and the northern side of all the larger trees. I stood still, for I felt a part of this rare, pleasant atmosphere—as though treading in a different world.

Just at my feet, beside a sugar stump, I saw the peculiar long jumps of the deer mouse, or "whitefoot" of the woods written in the snow. An unmistakable trail he had left, for I could easily see how he had soared in kangaroo-like leaps and lighted in the soft, downy snow upon heavy tail and hind legs.

I looked in the hole he had left beneath the root and when I reached in my hand I pulled some clean white hulled buckwheat out. His sheltered storehouse contained a goodsized handful.

I followed "whitefoot" until his erratic course led up to a thicket of small trees. Five feet above my head I saw what I knew last summer as a thrushes nest, wedged and masoned securely into the crotch of three small branches.

The nest appeared larger, and had a slanting thatchlike cover on the top. I had my suspicions. I pulled a stick out of the snow and tapped lightly on the burdened little trunk. At first nothing stirred, but when I tapped a second time Dame Whitefoot, with beady eyes, and large inquiring ears shuffled from her cozy home and, moving downward from beneath the sheltering roof seemed to inquire what my errand was. I wished I could know what went on in that tiny brain as she looked at me and tossed her nose back and forth.

I thought with what labor men build their homes, and often spend a lifetime's earnings to do it, while in our native woods the tiny deer mouse outwits us and builds in one short season a home that no rain or snow, or icy winds can enter. His plans are drawn for wise simplicity and simple comfort.

Listen, World!

"Expose Them to Nobility."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I'VE been thinking of a phrase Mrs. Roosevelt used recently. She was speaking of our young people and the temptations which surround them . . . and the shameful indifference with which we, their elders, regard their plight.

How can we blame these children if they stray? she asked. Wherever they look, Crime is advertised . . . Horror emphasized. BUT WHERE ARE TRUTH AND BEAUTY PUBLICIZED? We complain of youthful delinquency. There is only one answer to that problem and the need which lies behind it. Said Mrs. Roosevelt:

"EXPOSE THEM TO NOBILITY" . . . to COURAGE AND HONOR AND ALL THE FINE AND LASTING THINGS OF LIFE . . ."

"Expose them to nobility"—a splendid phrase, which Mrs. Roosevelt followed with a suggestion equally inspiring, namely—THAT EVERY CITY AND HAMLET IN THE U. S. A. SHOULD OBSERVE YOUNG AMERICA'S COMING-OF-AGE WITH AN ANNUAL CELEBRATION OF GREAT AND IMPRESSIVE BEAUTY. MAKE YOUNG AMERICA PROUD OF ITS CITIZENSHIP . . . MAKE AMERICA PROUD OF ITS YOUNG CITIZENS!

A great plan! Think it over. Every year, millions of young people come of voting age in America. Since birth, these boys and girls have seen or read of every imaginable form of ugliness and brutality. Constantly they have passed magazine stands loaded with lewd pictures. They have watched trashy films, read worthless stories, demoralizing in their influence as downright lawlessness.

Worse yet, they have heard America's name subtly degraded by shrewd propagandists . . . have seen her traditions and standards twisted and distorted, scorned and spat upon . . . have felt the rising tide of doubt and envy beating against their bewildered young minds. Now, at last, they are of age! Now they hold in their young hands the symbol of citizenship . . . to love or to despise.

WHAT DO WE, THEIR ELDERS, DO TO SHAPE THEIR CHOICE? WHAT DO WE DO TO MAKE THAT SYMBOL FOREVER SACRED IN THEIR EYES . . . TO KEEP THAT DAY FOREVER GLORIOUS IN THEIR MEMORY?

We do nothing. Exactly nothing. As far as we are concerned, this most sacred and significant of all civic occasions might simply be another April Fool's Day!

Shocking and shameful thought—it certainly it! Then do something about it! Don't stop with blushing—adopt Mrs. Roosevelt's suggestion . . . GET BUSY AND MAKE YOUNG AMERICA'S COMING-OF-AGE THE MOST GLORIOUS DAY IN ALL THE YEAR!

Let every city or town, however small, set this day apart for the most splendid and significant celebration of the year . . . as glorious as Fourth of July . . . as holy as Christmas in its sense of spiritual consecration!

Honor these young citizens! Welcome them! Make them feel that their nation rejoices in them . . . depends upon them! Give them a fitting introduction to their priceless heritage, their future partners, and their sacred responsibility! Have pageants and parades . . . prayers and songs . . . dancing in the streets. Above all, have a ritual of Oath Taking so beautiful and impressive that its memory will rest like a benediction upon each young heart forever!

MAKE CITIZENSHIP SECOND ONLY TO MARRIAGE IN ITS SANCTITY!

There is the plan. It may become more than a plan if you will have it so. Think it over . . . talk it over. Discuss it in the home . . . the class room . . . the pulpit . . . the club . . . the shop. Write about it to your friends . . . to the editor of this paper . . . to me . . . to your Congressman.

AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP WAS ONCE MADE GLORIOUS WITH BLOOD AND TEARS. SHALL WE REVIVE THAT GLORY WITH ANNUAL PRAYER AND SONG?

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The history of New York is certainly a chronicle of grave events, but there are times when it reads suspiciously like the plot of a musical comedy.

For instance, George Washington never really chopped down a cherry tree, but he used to live at No. 1 Cherry street.

Captain Kidd, vastly overrated as a pirate, once held residence in Wall street, but some of the pirates there now make Kidd look like an amateur.

Indeed America might never have been discovered but for a stay-up among Columbus' crew, a fellow with insomnia who preferred to prowl the decks while his mates were below sleeping. Late one night he saw an Indian's campfire, and that's how America was discovered.

Then there is Dixie, a word synonomous with the South. But the man who coined the word "Dixie" was a Yankee slave owner who lived in Manhattan.

IN THE infant years of the 19th century 20,000 hogs ran wild in the streets of New York. There was a Society for the Prevention of Pauperism, and one of its earliest edicts was to advocate jail for all who asked for relief. New York had 90,000 people then, of which 15,000, or one in six, were on relief.

But conditions were even worse just after the surrender at Yorktown. One out of every seven inhabitants was in debtors' prison, and one out of every 14 persons was a slave.

Mr. Smith Hart, who has chronicled much of the early madness of our metropolis in his book, "The New Yorkers," informs us that in 1809 "a committee reported that at the Bridewell in City Hall Park 72 women were imprisoned in one small room—little girls, prostitutes, thieves and drunks. One man had been in a dungeon more than 10 years. The jailor did not know why he had been put there. He was now both blind and insane and his clothes hung in rags. The committee protested that he should be given a shirt, but were 'assured that as often as a shirt was given him it was eaten by the rats'."

A man couldn't call his soul his own in 1788, because "civil liberties" were a joke. Newspapermen and even a congressman were jailed for criticizing the administration. A typesetter was jailed for expressing the wish that the wadding fired off on public holidays might lodge itself "in the seat of President Washington's pants."

DURING the great wave of Asiatic cholera in 1832 nearly 4,000 men, women and children died. At Bellevue hospital "the rooms had not been cleaned in two years. Convalescent patients wore the unwashed garments of the recently dead, and the nurses were convicts."

Poe's island is not a beautiful body of land surrounded by water. It is a nub of mud, about 20 feet square, in the center of East River, but even the gulls shun it. It was named for the poet because Poe used to strip at the foot of 42nd street and swim out there every day. Edgar Allan Poe was a great poet, but if the river wasn't any cleaner then than it is now he certainly wasn't a very particular one.

And once there was a cattle stampede where Gramercy park now exists. There used to be a slaughter house nearby, which accounts for the presence of the steers there. Gramercy park even then was one of the most genteel residential sectors in the city.

Hints On Etiquette.

If you have accepted an invitation to a party at a friend's house, and you have an unexpected house guest visiting you, ask your friend to allow you to bring your guest to her party. The friend should be frank about refusing if it will inconvenience her to have an extra guest, but should ask to be allowed to entertain your guest in the near future.

NEW EASY WAY TO MAKE COOKIES

Crisp, spicy, delicious—and you don't need to roll or cut them out!

• Hallowed memories of childhood and Grandma's cookie jar come flooding back at the first taste of these crisp, crunchy, spicy Ginger Cookies. But these cookies are even finer. For they're made with Spry, the new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening that brings out all their full rich, spicy flavor. And Grandma (bless her heart!) didn't know this new no-work way to make 'em.

Read how below—make some today. But be sure to do all your baking the Spry way—cakes, pastry, muffins, biscuits—all your frying, too. You'll find foods extra-delicious, so digestible.

Grandma's Ginger Cookies

1 cup Spry	1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt	1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon soda	1 cup molasses
1 teaspoon cinnamon	½ cup sour milk
1 teaspoon ginger	4 cups sifted flour

Combine Spry, salt, soda and spices and blend. Add sugar and cream well. (Quickly done with triple-creamed Spry.) Add beaten egg and mix thoroughly. Add molasses and sour milk. Add flour, blend well.

Drop from tip of teaspoon on baking sheets greased with Spry. (Or press through pastry bag.) Let stand a few minutes, then flatten cookies by stamping with a glass covered with a damp cloth. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 7½ dozen.

(All measurements in this recipe are level)

The new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening TRIPLE-CREAMED!

CHAPTER XXVIII

Every morning when the maid brought in Alix's breakfast tray, she tore a page from the calendar on the desk.

"You look sad when I do that," she said one morning.

Propped up against the pillows, her throat and arms a deep tan in contrast to the white satin gown, Alix looked at the maid gravely.

"Men in prison do that, don't they? I've heard they do."

When Hattie left, she looked out the window where the leaves were beginning to be tipped with orange and red, and thought, "Tonight Eddie is coming again. Tomorrow he is going to Chicago to live I wonder if I'll go with him. I don't know yet. That's the terrible part of it—I still don't know. But if I tell him I'll marry him, I mustn't let anything change me. I must never hurt him."

That afternoon she went to the cottage to see Nancy who was, as most people who went to the small white house remarked, like a child playing at keeping house.

Sitting before the silver tea service, she passed a cup of tea to Alix.

"Tod and I were talking last night and we wondered if you'd like to come to live with us."

"The rolling stone?" Alix smiled. "No. I wouldn't think of it. A house, no matter how large, is large enough for only one family. But I am rather tired of parties and getting in late and saxophones shrieking, Nancy. When I come over to see you, I want a house of my own more than ever. I'd like to sit before my own fireplace and wait for a man to come home to me. That's the kind of a girl I am. I want roots. Permanent ones. I've never been a career girl and I'm certainly not going to make a career of going to parties. Party girl. I'm not that either."

"Don't marry Eddie. Wait."

Alix's eyes were a cold, desolate gray.

"Tell me what to wait for! To see Kurt and Gina together and be invited to their home? That is, if Gina would invite me. To go to Palm Beach next winter and dance and be made love to by men like Jay? All the men except the right man want me.

"I hate casual love affairs, Nancy. I couldn't live with myself if I went from one pair of arms to another, trying to forget the only pair of arms I care to be in. I wouldn't like myself any more!"

She put the cup on the glass-topped table. "But I haven't much choice, have I? I'm grateful with all my heart for all that you and your parents have done for me. And by tomorrow night I'll either be married to Eddie and on my way to Chicago and to my own fireside or—or I'll know I'm going to Florida next winter and try to forget Kurt in Jay and others."

Gently she put her hand over Nancy's. "I worry the people who love me. I'm the odd one among you who hasn't found her happiness. I'm a rolling stone. Money doesn't make one happy. I've discovered that."

"I could have told you that long ago," Nancy said.

The gray cheerless afternoon matched her mood. As she dressed for dinner, she heard rain drifting from the trees and saw the valley hidden in fog and mist.

At dinner Don said, "Tod is doing remarkably well at the office. He doesn't miss a trick. I suggested that he take some courses at the university this winter and he was keen to do it. He's doing so well and he's so darned anxious for responsibility, I think I'll be able to get away later and take you and Bernice south or on a cruise or whatever you'd like to do."

"By the way, Alix, Sally Thompson is marrying her young doctor next week. The little Whitehead girl is taking her place." He smiled at his wife. "She's a brunet, my dear, homely but efficient."

They went upstairs to Bernice's sitting-room after dinner, leaving Alix in the drawing-room before a low burning fire. Before Eddie came, Bernice came down briefly.

"I'm not interfering, dear. Do what you think best and we'll accept any decision you make without criticism. We want you to be happy. Don and I will wait for you to come and tell us."

Half an hour later Eddie came

"Well, I've cut the strings for good. Room rent paid up to date, clothes packed, and I walked out forever, I hope, on a thirty-a-week job."

Standing over the fireplace, looking at her, he said, "Well, let's have it, Alix. Do I go to Chicago alone tomorrow? Today has been an eternity." Then he said, "I love you. I'll be good to you. What is it going to be?"

She thought, "He's unhappy Standing between us now is Kurt's tall, lean figure and his dark head and his clean, swift smile. And he will always stand between us. I feel that I'm in prison and the clock in the hall is ticking away the last minutes of my life. It's like a sentence."

She got up and walked to the window. After a little while she turned and said, "I'm sorry Eddie. But like Tuck, I'd rather dream of a wedding I didn't have . . ."

"You mean . . ."

"We wouldn't fight, Eddie. We'd get along well together. We'd be kind to each other. We understand each other—and we're friends. But all though our lives there would be an unseen, silent third person—Kurt. You'd have to share my thoughts of him. You'd have to share me with him. You'd have to eat at the same table with him. And you'd hate it. Probably, being you, you'd never say anything about it—or him. And that would be worse. A silent unhappiness is like a slow poison. Eddie, how can you want to marry me when you know . . ."

"Your best bet for happiness is to get away from here. And I want you, Alix. Think about it a little more tonight, won't you? I bought your ticket to Chicago today. It's a one-way ticket. I'm leaving late tomorrow afternoon. You're pretty badly upset tonight. I'll stop out tomorrow afternoon. Maybe by then I'll have a better argument than yours why you should marry me and go away with me."

"My answer is final, Eddie. I'm sorry. You deserve more"

When he left, she went upstairs to tell Bernice and Don that there would be no wedding tomorrow.

Kurt had rented a small house on the river. Except for brief trips to the city for provisions he could not get at the country stores, he had not left the place all summer. It was, he told himself often, the best vacation he had ever had. Mornings and afternoons on the warm sunny beach had burned him a deep brown and a rigid schedule of swimming and walking had toughened him into feeling more fit than he had in years.

He had heard from Gina in Hollywood. Her new tests had been splendid and she had signed a contract. Her letter boasted of famous people who entertained her and she told him not to take seriously any publicity of her romance with a certain actor An enclosed picture showed her among a group at a swimming party. She was very happy and thanked him again for the check he gave her with their final good-bye.

At breakfast he opened the newspaper, turned the pages slowly, and then paused, seeing a photograph of Alix taken at the country club swimming pool. He stared at it, half frowning, half smiling, because she seemed to be smiling directly at him. Often in the past weeks he had seen pictures of her in the papers and usually there was a man with her. Once he recognized Eddie's pleasant grin. Another time there was a tall blond young man named Jay Harvey. The papers said that Jay Harvey was a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lawrence.

With the paper in his hand he got up and walked out on the porch.

FINDS COIN LOST 39 YEARS AGO

Kentuckian Gets Back Keepsake From Coin Collection.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. —(CNS)— Kelly Harrell, 66, has found a 25-cent piece given him by his father in 1875, and which he lost or spent by accident 39 years ago.

Harrell was talking to his nephew, a Tennessee bank employe, about old coins. He mentioned having once owned a quarter dated 1853. Harrell said he had one in his collection of old coins, and invited his uncle to see it.

The coin proved to be the one Harrell once owned—identified by an X scratched on it by his father.

The nephew gave the coin to Harrell.

BELGIUM COLD TO GERMANY'S COLONY QUEST

Ruanda Urundi Might Be Given Up If Big Powers Insist, Brussels Believes.

(By United Press)

BRUSSELS—If Belgium is called upon to sacrifice any of its colonies to Germany, the little nation would rather give up the Ruanda Urundi territory than hand over the Belgian Congo, according to well informed opinion here.

Actually, Belgium is not at all willing to give up Ruanda Urundi, which formerly was the German Congo, but it is believed here that the country would abide by any decision of the big powers.

Ruanda Urundi is an area of 53,200 square kilometers, or about 1¾ times the size of Belgium. It is bounded on the north by Uganda, on the east and south by Tanganyika, and on the west by the Belgian Congo.

It is a country of high tablelands and deep valleys with irregular dry and rainy seasons which ... terrible famines. It is ... covered with short grass. ... are few and diminishing.

...any Wild Animals.

...rincipal trees are palms, ... and bamboo.

... are lions, elephants, leop... ild buffalo and snakes in ... a. Cattle grazing is one of the ...rict's chief industries, but Belgian companies recently have been investigating its mineral value and have discovered tin, oil and iron.

The native population at the close of 1936 was 3,509,094, while the white population was 932, of which 609 were Belgians, mostly officials, tradesmen, engineers and clerks.

Ninety-three per cent of the native population belong to the Bahutu tribe. They are small people, timid and simple, and mostly farmers.

On the other hand, the Batutsi tribe is of larger size, the average man standing 6 feet tall. They are shepherds, and are famed for their athletic ability, particularly jumping, in which they have achieved distances and heights ranking with world records.

Finally, there is the Batwa tribe of dancers, hunters, guards at the native courts, potters and basketmakers.

The Batutsi mostly eat milk and honey, but the other tribes eat sorghum, flour paste, ox-meat, peas, beans and hominy. They smoke tobacco and hemp and live in molehill shaped huts.

The Belgian governor lives at Usumbura, and rules with the help of native chiefs. There are two kings, one for Ruanda and one for Urundi.

Since 1919, when Belgium was given the mandate, it has built roads and schools, although until 1936, when the budget was balanced for the first time, the territory has been operated at a loss.

The principal exports, the total of which was about 14,000,000 belgas in 1937, are coffee, skins, cotton and tin. Imports consist chiefly of machinery, medicine, preserves, furniture, glass and other furnishings.

Rehearsals for the third and final presentation this season of the Mansfield Community Players will get under way next week, according to Mrs. E. K. Bacon, director.

"Dulcy," the George Kaufman-Marc Connelly comedy in which Ina Claire appeared in the stage production and which was made into a movie several years ago by Constance Talmadge, has been selected for the final play, which will be presented April 4 at Senior high school.

The board of governors of the Community Players met Wednesday night at the home of William Bloor, 176 Westwood avenue. Dr. Philmour Bein, president of the Players, said the next meeting would be held sometime in March at the home of Mrs. Bacon, 123 Glenwood boulevard.

65 RECERTIFIED

Richland Mothers in Line for WPA Jobs Again.

Sixty-five Richland county mothers who were recently dismissed from WPA jobs have been recertified for work relief jobs when more are available, Mrs. Katherine McMichael, county welfare supervisor, said today.

The list includes 52 women who were not eligible to receive aid for dependent children. The others were eligible to receive county aid, but lack of funds forced the welfare department to turn down their applications for help, the supervisor said.

The waiting list for dependent children funds has increased to nearly 75 mothers, a jump of about 50 per cent in the past month, the county figures showed.

Fifty-one families with 159 children are receiving help through the welfare department. Funds are provided under the Social Security program, with the county, state, and federal governments furnishing equal amounts.

Bricker Denies G. O. P. Seeks 'Job Grab' In Ripper Bill

MEASURE GETS HOUSE O. K. BY VOTE OF 97-32

Governor Declares Legislation Intended to Keep UCC From Being 'Dumping Ground.'

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—With the unemployment compensation commission "ripper" bill needing only senate concurrence in minor house amendments, which will be forthcoming early next week, Gov. John W. Bricker today denied that the measure is intended as a "job grab" for the Republicans.

Throughout the hectic debate which preceded passage of the "ripper" bill by the house late yesterday, the measure was described by the Democratic minority as a "purely political" maneuver intended to take jobs from Democrats and give them to Republicans.

"There is no desire on our part," said Bricker, commenting on the minority charges, "to grab a lot of appointments. There is a desire that it (the U. C. C.) be made not a political dumping ground as it would be if Keith Lawrence remained over there."

Named by Davey.

Lawrence, a member of the present three-member unemployment compensation commission, was appointed by former Governor Davey a few days before his term expired, when the senate refused to confirm the re-appointment of Charles S. Leasure, Zanesville. Lawrence, a former state senator, is from Cleveland.

The governor emphasized that he has nothing against Lawrence personally but feels he should not continue to sit on the commission because of the circumstances of his appointment.

As to Bricker's choice for the $7500 a year job as administrator of the U. C. C. under the "ripper" bill set-up, he said a number of persons were under consideration but he has not yet made up his mind who will get the job. An administrator must be named within 10 days after the bill becomes law with the governor's signature.

Many observers believed that this choice political plum would go to former state Senator Verner Metcalf, of Marietta, but a number of others also were known to be under consideration.

"Service of the commission," said Bricker, "will not be disrupted."

He added that the administration intends to get rid of the provisional appointments which he said have been made for political purposes and that there would be a re-check of earlier appointments.

Passed previously by the senate, the Baker U. C. C. reorganization bill found easy sailing in the house which passed the emergency clause by a vote of 97 to 33 and the bill by a vote of 97 to 32. The senate will receive the measure back next Monday night for concurrence in minor amendments.

Gay Franciscans Parade Tonight To Open 288-Day Expo

Turnstiles at the exposition begin whirling at 8 a. m. Saturday. A quarter-million persons are expected the first day. The exposition will run 288 days.

Four men were injured seriously yesterday when an elevator dropped them 70 feet down the shaft of a 182-foot high ski jump.

Opening day honors will be shared by an international ski jumping event and a $70,000 livestock show.

President Roosevelt arranged to speak by radio from Key West, Fla., during the morning opening ceremonies.

Renews Fight for Impeachment of Perkins

Up and Down THE STREET

Producers of the stage and screen might take a lesson from the Madge Kinsey Players, last of Ohio's traveling repertoire companies which appears in Mansfield each summer. The company opened at the Grand theater in Canton on Christmas day and are still packing them in, according to the Canton Repository. The company is small, spends comparatively little money on scenery and its plays are plain old-fashioned hokum in which boy meets girl, villain gets a kick in the pants and the red-haired comic rolls the audience in the aisles. The company is playing two bills a week, with matinees on Saturdays, Sundays and Wednesdays, and over the weekend the "SRO" sign is hung out. The Kinseys, who have been "on the road" for three generations, are from Loudonville.

The lost has been found! The battered red lantern, which has been the prize at stake in all athletic meetings between Mansfield and Ashland high schools, was discovered by E. L. Heasley, dramatic instructor at the high school. It evidently had been used in a stage production some time or other, for it was discovered in the equipment room under the stage. It was turned over to former custodians, whose duty it will be to guard it until the next meeting on the gridiron. Mansfield's last basketball victory over Ashland gives it present possession.

Robert Simon, whose performances with the Cleveland Play House group have been of high order, is making another hit with Cleveland play-goers this week. The former Mansfielder, who did great work with the Community Players a few years ago, is appearing in the Cleveland group's latest production, "Play House Revue," a musical show, at the Brooks theater. Simon received "rave" notices in Cleveland papers for his performance.

Six-year-old Norma Scott will join the parade of Mansfield talent on the air Sunday when she takes part in the children's amateur talent program over WCLE Cleveland from 3 to 5 p. m. Norma went to Ned Wayburn's famous school of dance last year with her teacher, Marguerite Speas, which was her third trip to the Big City for special work. Sunday she will sing "You're an Education" and do a tap number. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Scott, 197 East Second and is a student at Hedges school.

DIES ON VISIT

Mrs. Gertig, 79, Stricken at Daughter's Home in Dayton.

Mrs. Caddie K. Gertig, 79, widow of C. W. Gertig, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carl Clutter in Dayton Friday after a brief illness. She became ill while visiting at her daughter's home.

Mrs. Gertig, who made her home with another daughter, Mrs. Karl K. Kunert, 617 Scholl road, was a resident of Mansfield 50 years. She was a member of the First M. E. church.

The survivors besides the two daughters are two sons, Carl of Mansfield and Frank of Littleton, Colo., 10 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Services will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 1 p. m. Monday with Rev. E. G. Corwin of the First M. E. church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body will be removed to the funeral home Saturday evening.

CHICAGO FIGHTS DISEASE SPREAD

Flu, Pneumonia, Winter Colds Fatal to 158 in 16 Days, Reports Show.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—The current wave of influenze pneumonia and winter colds in Chicago has claimed 158 lives since the first of the month, the board of health reported today.

The figure compares to the 145 deaths attributed to pneumonia and influenze in the same period last year and proves that the widespread illness is generally of a mild nature, the board stated.

With only the most serious cases reported, the board's records showed 552 influenza cases and sixteen deaths against only forty cases and eight deaths in the same period of 1938.

While a big jump was noted in the number of flu cases, pneumonia patients remained about the same numerically speaking. There have been 659 cases reported and 142 deaths against 619 cases and 139 deaths in the first sixteen days of February, 1938.

Thousands of other persons have been confined at their homes from several days to more than a week with respiratory ailments blamed on the see-saw weather conditions.

With 3,000 stricken in Champaign and Urbana, health authorities last night ordered all schools, churches and theaters of the two towns closed until further notice. The order did not affect the University of Illinois.

BRITAIN HUNTING "LEAK" TO GERMANY ON WARSHIP SECRETS

(By United Press)

LONDON—The admiralty is to inquire regarding suspected leakage of secret information to Germany on Great Britain's new 35,000-ton battleship King George V, it was announced officially today.

The battleship, first of five new ships of the King George V class, is to be launched by King George VI a Newcastle Tuesday.

British newspapers recently have featured quotations from the German publication "Pocket Book of War Fleets," giving alleged secret details which are unavailable to inquirers in London.

Geoffray Shakespeare, parliamentary and fiancial secretary to the admiralty, said of the reports that "certain particulars given by the German editor are inaccurate." This was taken as an implied admission that the others were correct.

The German publication, however, purported to give numerous details which Jane's fighting ship records had not obtained.

It said that King George V would mount its ten 14-inch guns in two four-gun turrets forward and one two-gun turret aft. It said that the ship would mount also sixteen 5.2-inch guns, thirteen 1½-inch anti-aircraft guns and 16 anti air-craft machine guns, and that it would carry four seaplanes.

CHECK ON ALIENS

WPA Workers to Be Required to Prove Citizenship.

All of Richland county's 1,100 WPA workers must prove they are citizens of the United States to hold their jobs after March 5, District Director J. L. Kelly said today.

"Each employe will be required to sign a notarized statement declaring he is a citizen of, or owes allegiance to the United States," Kelly said.

The citizenship investigation is a part of a nation-wide revision of WPA rolls which is expected to result in dismissal of from 5 to 10 per cent of the employes on projects.

Kelly said all aliens found on projects, who had evaded previous existing regulations prohibiting the employment of non-citizens, would be discharged.

Interviewers began an investigation two days ago of the financial status of WPA workers which will lead to dismissal of ineligible employes.

HUNT BODY OF BIG PRAIRIE MAN

Searchers Probe River; See Tracks To Water.

COSHOCTON —(INS)— Officials and veteran rivermen today sought the body of Lee Roberts, of Big Prairie, in the waters of Killbuck creek near Helmick, north of Coshocton.

Roberts is believed to have walked into the water at that point. Tracks leading to the water's edge were discovered, according to Walter Smith, also of Big Prairie. Sheriff Jay Abbott was in charge of the investigation.

THOMAS OFFERS NEW CHARGE TO BOLSTER CASE

Claims Secretary Suspended Deportation Warrants in Defiance of Law.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Seeking to broaden his request for the impeachment of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and her chief aides, Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R) of New Jersey, has submitted additional charges to the house judiciary committee, it was disclosed today.

Delayed in acting on the Perkins case because of conflicting legislative matters, the committee may decide Tuesday whether to expand its inquiry.

The new Thomas charges claim Secretary Perkins has:

1. Suspended deportation warrants in thousands of cases in defiance of law.

2. Submitted to the United States aliens who are "notorious advocates of the overthrow of all forms of government, except that of Russia."

'Public Funds Spent.'

3. Expended public funds for the purpose of influencing legislation, in violation of law.

4. Condoned offenses "of gravest character and has enabled men, who by no means can be called mere technical offenders against our laws, to legalize their status in the United States."

5. Sponsored legislation to obtain additional power, which is additional proof of general charge of conspiracy.

While members of the committee have indicated, in a canvass, that they would find no grounds for proceeding with the impeachment of Miss Perkins, Thomas is insisting that an extended inquiry into operations of the department of labor be made.

Thomas, it was disclosed, told the committee that "we would be derelict in our duty should we fail to take cognizance of defiance of our statutes by civil officers of the United States."

In support of his charge that Miss Perkins and her aides suspended warrants of deportation without legal authority, he cited a statement by the late Commissioner of Immigration MacCormack that the department has little or no discretion in these matters.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Feeling And Dignity Are Incalculable Treasure, Colossal in the Aggregate

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—There was a little backstairs fuss between two members of the help in a night club in Miami. Mr. Rudy Vallee was charged with assaulting Rodney Dillard Borden. Mr. Borden is a bus boy. Everybody knows who Mr. Vallee is.

Mr. Vallee was acquitted. Mr. Borden, age 17, said Mr. Vallee hit him on the arm, bruising him, and swore at him, too.

The dispatch said that, notwithstanding the acquittal, Mr. Borden contemplated suit against Mr. Vallee for $10,000. That, I assume, would be for bodily harm, shock and the indignity of it all. But the physical damage would be nominal, because it was not represented as anything more than a bruise.

A boy of 17 receives bruises in football practice and in disputes with other boys and thinks nothing of them. So, apparently, most of the $10,000 damage occurred to the young man's dignity and in his human right not to be done that way.

But I am circling for an opening of the subject of our colossal, incalculable, aggregate treasure as a nation in good repute, dignity, sensitive feelings, physical well-being, inalienable rights, peace of mind and love.

Let us assume, just to obtain a figure, that Mr. Borden, age 17, a bus boy, actually was damaged $10,000 worth in this fracas with Mr. Vallee. According to my estimates, the bruise would be scheduled at not more than six cents, the nominal figure. That would leave a balance of $9,999.94 to cover the invisible wounds to Mr. Borden's spirit and rights.

We have 120,000,000 people, so the American nation possesses well over $12,000,000,000,000 in feelings and the human right not to be pushed except with just provocation.

So $12,000,000,000,000 is the absolute rock-bottom price of our feelings and our right not to be pushed unduly, and these treasures are not extinguished against them, but revive and may be damaged again and again.

Then, there is the average asking price for a reputation which has been damaged by incorrect statement in print or on the air, which is $100,000 per incident, signifying that we possess among us at least $120,000,000,000 of wealth in that department.

Certain precious feelings and rights overlap slightly on the various legal fronts. They are exposed to risk in physical assault, libelous statement and again in the realm of love, except that in dealing with the cash value of love we must reduce the rights by half, because only ladies may be legally damaged in this field.

The customary price is $100,000 for each offense, but it must be added that a lady may be jilted again and again. However, this only complicates the picture, so I will settle for $60,000,000,000,000 as the value of love in our nation. It shows the absurdity of the outworn pretensions of the Europeans in this respect.

Then we have the matter of collateral or referred sufferings—another majestic store of wealth which is never estimated in the nation's inventory.

This is the suffering which parents sue for when their little boy tries to turn a neighbor's dog inside out and is nipped slightly on the hand. It generally amounts to about $15,000 per parent, but it occurs in a vast variety of forms.

This is my actuary's day off, so I cannot foot up the figures, but this rough draft should convince anyone that even when Mr. Roosevelt has spent all the money and all the deficit and all the tangible property of the nation, the United States will still be rich beyond figures in treasures which are imperishable and inexhaustible.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Big-time stuff: On the Warner ranch at Calabasas some 500 extras are on hand to help Paul Muni Juarez defy the raised guns of a firing squad as he marches alone down a block-long street into the low building held by Joseph Calleia as Uradi, usurper of Juarez's power in Mexico.

The set—specially built and including an old mission church—represents the town of Matamoras.

Muni as Juarez—and with that make-up he isn't Muni any longer—arrives at street's end in a coach driven by Vladimir Sokoloff, steps down, and with most of the 500 supers at his heels, he marches solemnly on Uradi's headquarters. As the Uradi troops line up, level their guns, the crowd falls back, but Juarez marches alone, never-changing pace. The soldiers ignore their commander's order to fire, lower their weapons as Juarez marches unflinchingly through....

Safely behind the camera, grim Muni Juarez relaxes into a grin. "That took courage," he says. "Imagine my walking so bravely into those guns — knowing they weren't loaded."

It's like turning back the clock to go on the "Rose of Washington Square" set and see Al Jolson singing nonchalantly in the aisles of a burlesque theater set. The song he sings—or rather moves his lips to as the "playback" sings it for him—is "Pretty Baby." The first take he plays it with typical Jolson cheer and personality stuff. The second he does with a worried expression, which fits the part better but not Jolson.

A little more than ten years ago Jolson was the only movie star in town doing any singing for the mike. His sound stage was a sweatbox, housing more jitters than today's swing craze has produced. When Jolson sang "Sonny Boy" nobody believed that sound would make much of a dent in the movies, or that some day Jolson could sing "Pretty Baby" on a sound stage where nobody worried much about sound. And neither Alice Faye nor Tyrone Power, then, would have dreamed that today they'd be co-starred with Jolson.

It's "Lucky Night" for Myrna Loy and Robert Taylor. It's one of those pictures in which hero and heroine, after an impromptu meeting, start on a whirl of gambling fun during which they can't lose. The script says they get let-down and the humdrum begin.

Today they're at the bingo table, winning hands down, on an elaborate "playhouse" set where in the background a fine new car is about to be raffled off. They're putting their bingo winnings into a $2 ticket on the car in the next scene, and while the camera is shifting for it Myrna sits down and looks at some stills, Bob repairs to his set dressing room where pretty soon I bust up his nap with the question: "Does he know he's going to be married when this picture is done?"

Bob rears up and says, "Yes," with a sort of sigh, "and last month, and last week, and day-before-yesterday I was married-too."

But he won't give further. The picture he did with Barbara Stanwyck was called "This Is My Affair" and I think that is how he feels about it, in four easy words.

Divorce Statistics Given

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

People who compile statistics seem banded together for the purpose of destroying the comfortable proverbs in which we have so long taken refuge.

For untold ages we have always supposed that June was the month for brides. There is a whole literature to that effect, and brides and roses are the symbols of June.

Some of these reasons, either romantic or practical, may have been the cause of nominating June as the proper month for wedding bells. But along comes one of these dreary statisticians who says June is all wrong for brides; that there are more divorces among people married in June than in any other month. Sad, isn't it?

The annual report of Arthur W. Sullivan, register of probate of Suffolk county, Massachusetts, warns brides that June for weddings is not what it's supposed to be. Brides and grooms who march up the middle aisle or bolt into a magistrate's office, if they dislike fuss and feathers, are much more likely to march into a divorce court before the year is over than those married in any other month.

And while they were about it, these statistical Cupids handed out a few more reliable facts concerning marriages, and how to make them stand pat. There are fewer divorces in times of depression than when prosperity sails high, wide and handsome. This is easier to understand than the alleged ill luck associated with June weddings.

Children help to hold shaky marriages together. Unmistakably true.

Again the satistical Cupids say that ten years is the average marital span, and that most divorces come in the fifth year of marriage, and that the No. 1 complaint is cruel and abusive treatment.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, February 18.

DISTURBED and difficult situations arise on this day, judging by the lunar transits, although it is possible that sound judgment, well-directed effort and hard work will be able to thwart all gestures of calamity. The element of the unexpected, strange and unpredictable complexions events, with sudden upset of plans and ambitions, changed surroundings and contacts. But out of this seeming disturbance good luck or an unexpected windfall is likely to materialize. Move with caution and deliberation.

Those whose birthday it is may be surprised at the sudden advent of a strange situation, seemingly devastating and disastrous. But the sagacious and prudent grasp of such a circumstance may be turned into unexpected good fortune by sound judgment, caution and indomitable industry and application.

A child born on this day may be talented in unusual channels, and its originality and ingenuity may be made to develop and materialize into very substantial achievements and good fortunes by its own industry and sound judgment.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I went calmly to bed at an unusually early hour for me, slept like the proverbial top all night, and did not need the low first warning notes of my alarm clock to waken me at seven, for I was fully awake a quarter of an hour before that time.

I ordered my breakfast for seven-thirty, and then showered and dressed for the motor journey, moving as quietly as possible that I might not disturb Mary or Miss Whitlock. I need not have worried about Mary. She slept soundly with the resilience of youth all through my preparations, but Miss Whitlock, fully dressed, came into the living room before I had finished dressing.

Offers Her Help.

"Is there anything I can do for you?" she asked me competently.

"Not a thing," I answered, "and it really isn't on the free list for you to get up just because I had to But I appreciate it, and thank you just the same. It will be nice to have a breakfast companion. Please order at once and tell them to hurry yours up and bring it at seven-thirty with mine—that is, if you like."

"I do like, very much," she told me with a smile.

Our breakfast arrived on time, and together, and we discussed them pleasantly over a table drawn up to the window. Over the second cup of coffee the nurse put a sudden pertinent query.

"Do you suppose that father-in-law of Mary's is getting you away from the hotel and advising her to go to the theater with me in order to get us all away from the hotel, so he can send somebody like that Arlen girl in here to snoop around?"

For the fraction of a second I sat rooted to my chair in astonishment, staring at her until she stirred restlessly.

"I suppose I ought not to—" she began, and I roused to vehement protest.

"Of course you ought," I said hotly, "and I am infinitely obliged to you. There is the possibility, of course, that you are mistaken — I hope you are—but I can't help but think you've 'struck something,' as my husband says

Must Act.

"At any rate, we must act as if your suspicions were correct," I said finally. "Of course, the only thing he would gain by having us all out of the suite here at the same time would be opportunity to put in a dictaphone that he might have a record of our conversation together. So far the apartment has not been left alone long enough for him to do anything like that, even if that be his plan."

I rose and struck one fist into the palm of the other hand.

"But from this minute on," I said determinedly, "until we finally give up these suites, either you or I must always be here. Of course, we can't leave Mary here alone, but if she goes out with either of us, the other must stay here on guard."

"That would be my idea," she agreed. "And, as a corollary, I deduce no matinee for Mary and me today."

"Your deduction is eminently correct," I told her with a wry little smile. 'When I get back I'll arrange for her to take advantage of her father-in-law's permission. But while I'm gone, keep her in here. Explain to her why. She'll agree that you can't be too wary in dealing with Philip Veritzen."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE LATE REVERSE

A LATE BID BY your partner of a higher ranking suit than the one for which you had shown a fit —what could be a more logical force, in its natural meaning? Since your inability to fit that suit would oblige you to go a level higher into the earlier suit, your partner has by his bid taken full responsibility for your getting higher. If you pass such a bid, you are derelict in your duty to him, unless you mistrust him or have been unworthy of trust yourself on your earlier turns.

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable).

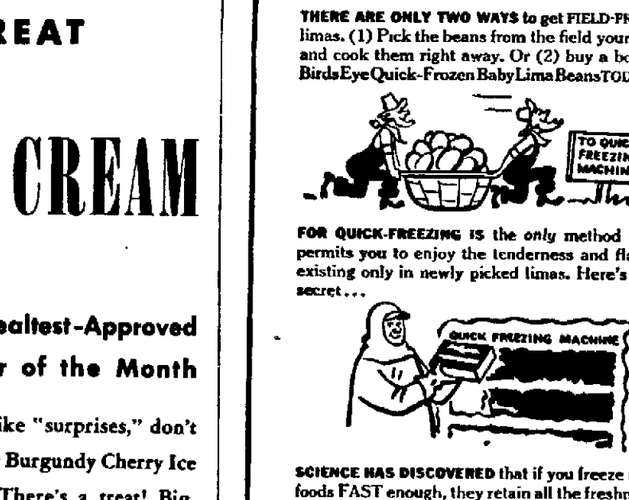
With his splendid holding, East naturally opened here with 1-Spade. This was passed to North, who bid 2-Clubs. East next showed 2-Diamonds and South 2-Hearts, a very fine inferential call since the display of two other suits by East made it likely his partner might fit this. West was overjoyed to have a chance to bid, showing his harmony with his partner's hand at 3-Diamonds. North then proclaimed a fit for his side with 3-Hearts.

At this stage East made a very strong bid, 3-Spades. By so doing, he took full responsibility for his partner going to four if he had to slip into diamonds. Such being so, he also took responsibility for West going to 4-Spades if he had as many as three cards for the rebid suit. But both South and West passed this and North raised to 4-Hearts, which East doubled.

As it was, South made his contract, losing only two tricks in trumps and one in spades. Had West taken this out to 4-Spades, it could have been set only if South gave his partner a chance to ruff diamonds.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer. West. Neither side vulnerable).

If East bids hearts on this deal, North and South then bid all of the other suits, winding up in 6-Spades, and South along the way has made a fake cue-bid of hearts, why should West refuse to let that scare him out of leading that suit?

Colonial Party Idea

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Even if your ancestors didn't fight the Revolutionary war, a colonial party is most attractive for Washington's birthday. Be sure to snap off the electric lights and light the table with old-fashioned candles when refreshments are served. Cakes and punch provide a simpler menu with a real colonial background. Make them in modern time and labor-saving ways. They'll taste better than those actually made by the old recipies, and leave the hostess in holiday mood to enjoy her own party!

Coffee punch is delicious. Nut cakes of various sorts have a real colonial history. And you might serve a very modern fruit cake, an easy version of a cake over which eighteenth century ladies spent such tedious hours.

If In Evening.

If the party is an evening affair, it is a good idea to make the coffee punch from one of the various brands of decaffeinated coffee, especially as most guests will want seconds and thirds. Pour four cups freshly-made, chilled decaffeinated coffee over one pint of ice cream in a punch bowl or huge mixing bowl. Blend lightly with an egg beater until ice cream is properly melted. Add additional ice cream in spoonfuls to the punch and sprinkle with grated nutmeg.

Lady Washington Almond Bars are made this way: Put eight ounces unblanched almonds through a food chopper. Combine with one-half cup sweetened, condensed milk and four tablespoons confectioners' sugar. Fold in one stiffly-beaten egg white. Mix thoroughly. Turn on board covered with confectioners' sugar and sprinkle with more. Roll out to quarter-inch thickness. Cut in strips, one by three inches. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Place on buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven 375° F. for 15 minutes or until delicately brown. Remove from pan at once. It makes about 24.

Unusual Dessert.

Peppermint Tapioca Cream is a most unusual dessert, one with a definitely old-fashioned flavor. Mix one egg yolk with small amount of milk, in top of double boiler. Add remaining milk, using four cups in all, also add one-third cup quick cooking tapioca, one-quarter teaspoon salt and two-thirds cup crushed peppermint candy. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 10 to 12 minutes after water boils again, stirring frequently. Beat in one egg white until just stiff enough to hold shape. Fold hot tapioca mixture gradually into egg white. Serve with chocolate sauce. For this, add two and one-half squares unsweetened chocolate to one-half cup water. Bring to boil, and cook four minutes, stirring constantly. Add three-quarter cup sugar and a dash of salt. Boil four minutes longer, stirring constantly. Serve hot or cold. Makes one cup sauce. Incidentally, this sauce may be kept in an air-tight container in refrigerator and used as a syrup base for hot chocolate drinks.

Wash linoleum or oil cloth with warm water and soap suds. Then quickly wipe it dry with a soft cloth.
